

U. S. Diplomat In Conference On Syrians

Urgent Talks Entered Into
With British

LONDON, Aug. 23 (UP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called in the ranking American diplomat in London today for an urgent conference on the swing of Syria into the Soviet orbit amid a rising chorus of anti-Western statements by Syrian leaders.

Macmillan and U. S. Minister Walworth Barbour, acting for vacationing Ambassador John Hay Whitney, met for a survey of the situation against this background:—London "Daily Express" correspondent Donald Wise cabled from Damascus that "Russian volunteers" had been pouring into Syria by the thousands.

President Demands
—Syrian President Shukri El Khatib, in Egypt for medical treatment, demanded that the West in general and the United States in particular "leave us alone."

—Syrian officials in Damascus attacked American "imperialism" and praised Syrian-Soviet "friendship."

—A Syrian military attache in Rome, charged with being involved in an "American plot" against the Damascus regime, was reported to have appealed for political asylum in Italy.

Wait And See

Diplomatic sources said that before the Macmillan-Barbour meeting at the prime minister's office in 10 Downing Street, the United States and Britain had agreed that no counter-action should be taken directly against Syria at this time. Their attitude was "wait and see."

The Macmillan-Barbour conference came after a week of Anglo-American talks on a lower diplomatic level.

Earlier plans for a meeting of the Baghdad Pact nations—Britain, Turkey, Pakistan, Iraq and Iran—were reported to have been put off for the time being until the Syrian military-political turmoil jelled sufficiently to allow the West a clearer picture of events.

Soviets Test Nuclear Arms In Rejection

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (UP)—Russia resumed testing nuclear weapons of "substantial size" Thursday as radio Moscow was rejecting the new Western disarmament plan, the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission revealed today.

In a brief announcement, the commission said the Soviet Union exploded a nuclear device at its Siberian proving ground after a four-month layoff. As usual, Moscow was silent on the weapons test.

The AEC gave no details but indicated that the explosion was in the H-bomb, or megaton range. The speed with which it detected the test indicated also that the weapon was "dirty" with radioactive fallout.

Two - Year Ban

The United States and other Western powers had offered only Wednesday to meet Russia's demand for a two-year ban on nuclear testing if Russia would agree to halt production of fissionable materials.

Radio Moscow Thursday rejected the compromise proposal. The question remained open as to whether the timing of the broadcast to coincide with the new weapons test was deliberate or accidental.

Meanwhile, the United States continued its Nevada test series by exploding another nuclear device from a plastic balloon 1,500 feet above the Nevada proving grounds.

11 Freight Cars Wreck At Natchez

NATCHEZ, Miss., Aug. 23 (AP)—Railroad agent D. C. Hayles said 11 cars of a Mississippi Central freight train derailed today just east of Natchez.

Cause of the derailment was not determined.

Hayles said the tracks would be cleared and traffic resumed by tomorrow morning.

Miracle Accident

Youth Lives After Tractor Runs Over Him

AUSTIN, Aug. 23 (UP)—Bailey Goodman, a 14-year-old junior high school student, returned to the chores on his grandfather's farm today, less than 24 hours after the wheel of a 5,000-pound tractor ran over his chest.

The youth said today he wasn't even "too sore." The accident occurred Thursday when Bailey and his grandfather, Carl B. Stroud, were riding the tractor across a maize field en route to the farm house, located north of town between Austin and Round Rock.

Falls Into Path
Stroud asked his grandson to remove a water jug from the tractor's path. The youth jumped down, cleared the road and then leaped on the rear axle. He slipped in the path of the rear wheel, approximately five-feet high.

"I slipped on my back and threw my hand over my head," the youth said. Stroud fearful the wheel would grab and "skid" across the youth if he jammed the brake, let the tractor roll.

Young Bailey, rushed to Austin by his grandfather, walked into Brackenridge hospital where X-rays showed there were no broken bones and he was released.

Jury Acquits Col. Berger Of Homicide

FT. SILL, Okla., Aug. 23 (AP)—A general court-martial today acquitted Lt. Col. Walter Berger of four charges of negligent homicide and one charge of dereliction of duty.

The court started deliberations at 3:32 p.m. and returned the verdict of innocent at 5:33 p.m. Berger was charged in the June 22 deaths of four infantry soldiers during a training exercise at Ft. Sill, U.S. Army artillery center.

"I am very appreciative and thankful for the way things have turned out," Berger said. "I also would like to express my sorrow for the tragic incident and just wish it had never happened."

Asked if at any time during the two-day trial he had felt he would not be cleared, Berger stated: "As a career officer I had nothing to live for except hope of acquittal."

Plead Innocent

Berger, 41-year-old veteran of 16 years in the Army, pleaded innocent to all five counts as the court-martial opened yesterday. Four soldiers were killed and 13 others hurt when mortar shells fell among advancing troops.

Maj. Henry Olk, defense counsel for the Philadelphia Pa., officer told the court in his closing argument a series of events not related to orders by Berger, second in command of artillery fire, led to the fatal accident.

Olk said character witnesses testified the colonel was a "meticulous and careful officer." He added that although there had been conflicting testimony concerning circumstances of the accident, he believed everyone told the truth "to the best of his ability."

New Teen-Age Terrorism Breaks Out In New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (UP)—New teen-age terrorism menaced the sidewalks of New York today.

Police interrupted a burglary attempt by a homeless young killer recently set free from a reformatory to roam the streets in what a judge called a "revolving door" law enforcement system. Two boys who thought stealing from a detective would be "a cool joke on the cops" were caught after breaking into the officer's home.

Two Arrested

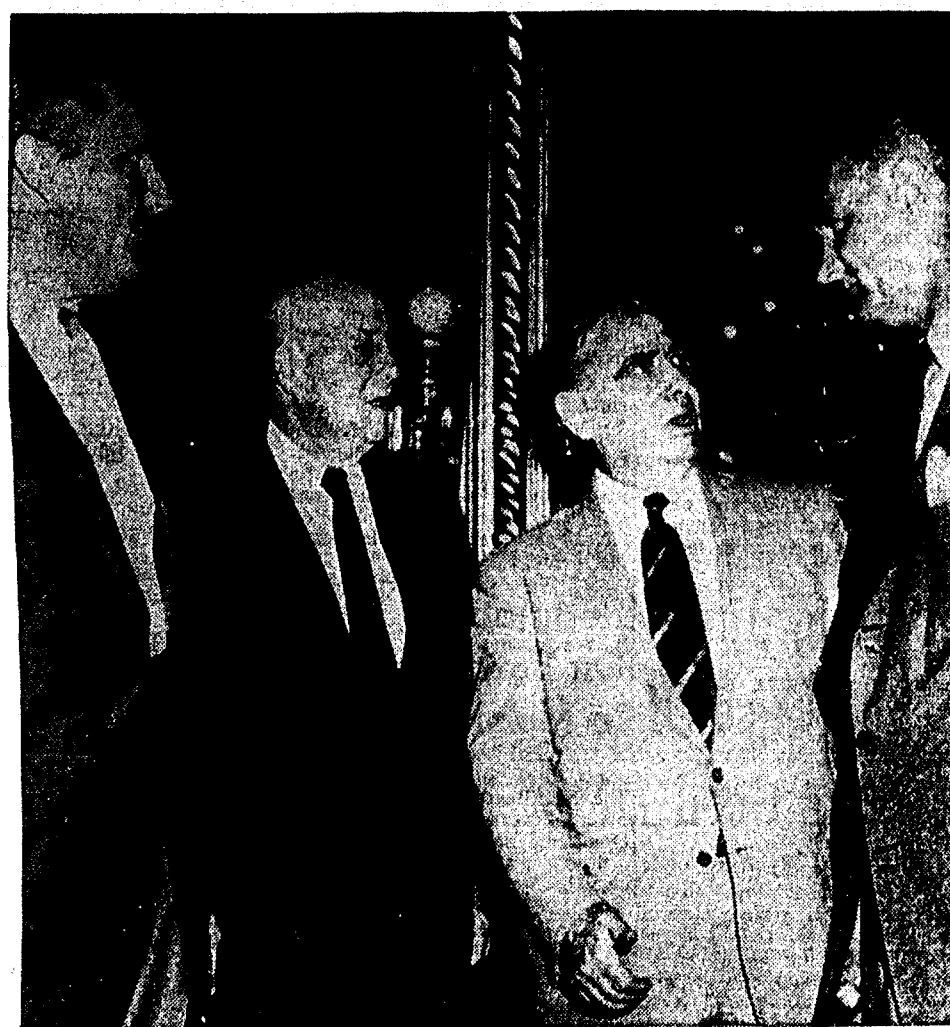

A 19-year-old girl was arrested on a morals charge after being caught in a park with a 14-year-old boy. The boy was charged with delinquency.

A Queens youth was arrested for raping a 15-year-old girl. Four teen-aged boys were picked up for stealing two cars and a bicycle.

'HAS NO MEMORY'

Investigators Stop Grilling Of Hoffa

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Senate rackets investigators abruptly called off today their grilling of Teamsters union boss James R. Hoffa with the scornful charge that "the witness has no memory."

The select committee acted after Hoffa, their apparent to Dave Beck as president of the big scandal-ridden union, swore he could not remember whether mobster Johnny Dio sent him tiny microphones to eavesdrop on a grand jury investigating Hoffa in 1953.

Chairman McClellan D - Ark. slapped a new subpoena on Hoffa and said he would be called back to the witness stand some time in the future. McClellan asserted, however, after playing recorded telephone conversations between Hoffa and Dio: "If these recordings do not help you refresh your memory, it will take the power of almighty God to do it. The instrumentalities of man apparently can't do it."

Made A Mistake
Hoffa previously acknowledged he made a mistake in associating with "bums and criminals" like Dio, some of whom are alleged by the committee to have been planted in key offices of phony Teamster locals in New York. But the 44-year-old Hoffa promised he'd cleanse the union of such elements if, as expected he moves into the top spot next month. "Amazing" was the acid comment of committee chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy. Before excusing Hoffa, who had spent most of four days questioning, McClellan read a statement accusing him of "conflicts of interest in questionable actions," as well as "a long and continuing association" with hoodlums and gangsters, as the Teamsters' Midwest boss.

Threw Up Hands

The committee threw up its hands after Hoffa, who pleaded inability to remember 111 times in yesterday's hearing alone, acknowledged he got some small recording devices about the time of a Detroit grand jury session but insisted he didn't recall whether they came from Dio.

Asked if he ever "assigned" the "bugs" for use in recording what witnesses said about him to the grand jury, Hoffa said his best recollection was that "I did not assign anybody to do any such a thing."

Hoffa stuck to his story even after listening to a recorded conversation in which Dio said he had "a couple of those things" and would bring them with two more if he could get them to Detroit.

Kennedy said the "things" were tiny microphones and recording devices.

Cool And Smoky, Fare In Monroe

Maybe the weather forecast for yesterday should have read "Partly smoky."

A sort of California-type smoky haze filtered through Monroe early last night, and attempts by the Morning World to learn its origin were unsuccessful.

More strictly on the weather side, the Twin Cities had a high of 91 yesterday and the low was again a comfortable 66. This was almost identical to Thursday's readings of 92 and 66.

The outlook for today remains the same, with partly cloudy skies in the offing, and not much change in temperatures.

Arkansas can expect a few showers today and tomorrow, and a slight drop in temperatures.

Wilson Plan Has U.S. Army Economizing

Plan To Close
16 Facilities
In Cut Move

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (UP)—The Army announced plans today to close 16 facilities, eliminate 15,000 civilian jobs and drop one combat division as part of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's economy drive.

It said it also will drop 18 of its 122 anti-aircraft artillery battalions. They are 90 and 120 mm. gun outfits and are generally considered to be ineffective against modern bombers. They probably would have been deactivated anyway.

The Army's action was the latest in a series of economy measures by the armed services that included mothballing of ships, cutbacks in both military and civilian manpower, and cuts in spending for planes.

Stay Within Budget

The Army said its reductions and closings were ordered to help it keep within its fiscal 1958 spending ceiling of $8,350,000,000 and its planned reduction of 50,000 troops. Wilson has ordered all the forces to stay within their planned budget.

The Army said it will shut down the following government owned industrial plants during the current fiscal year that ends next July:

Kankakee unit, Joliet, Ill., arsenal, 25 civilian employees;
Ordnance assembly plant, Edgewood, Md., 56 employees;
Ravenna arsenal, Apco, Ohio, 40 employees;

Trooper Admits Seeing Woman In Death Case

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 23 (AP)—State Police Supt. John Nick Brown said today a state police trooper admitted meeting Mrs. Ruth Tilton, 31-year-old Houston, Tex., housewife found dead in Jefferson Parish.

Brown identified the trooper as Barr A. Roberts, 34, and said he had been suspended until an investigation could be completed.

The state police chief said in a statement the investigation of Roberts "has been going on some three weeks by investigators of my office in conjunction with the Jefferson Parish authorities . . ."

Body Found

Mrs. Tilton's body was found Aug. 5 in a wooded swampland across the Mississippi River from New Orleans. She had written to a friend of meeting a state trooper, who she said stopped her for speeding, but did not give her a ticket after taking her name, address and telephone number. STARS AND STRIPES WAVING

Young Americans March Into Forbidden Peiping

TOKYO, Aug. 23 (UP)—Forty-one young Americans on a forbidden trip to Communist China rode triumphantly into Peiping today carrying the Stars and Stripes.

The Reds drummed up a hero's welcome for them at the train station and promptly started making propaganda capital out of a statement signed by 36 of the Americans calling for "free interchange between China and America."

Peiping radio said they arrived with 56 other youths from India, Burma, Ceylon, the Philippines, Syria, Lebanon, Morocco, West Africa, West Germany, Australia and New Zealand.

Brass Band Greets

A brass band and flower girls met the train.

The foreigners had come from the Communist-sponsored world youth festival in Moscow over one of the longest and most rugged rail routes in the world. The trip required nine days.

TURKEY-BOUND—Loy Henderson, above, ace Middle East trouble-shooter, has been sent to Turkey by Secretary of State Dulles to consult with friendly Middle East leaders on the Syrian crisis. (AP Wirephoto)

Dulles Sends Trouble Man Off To Turkey

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles disclosed today he has sent an ace troubleshooter, Loy Henderson, to the Middle East for urgent talks with friendly leaders on the Syrian situation.

A State Department announcement issued some 24 hours after departure said the 65-year-old Henderson left by air yesterday for Ankara.

There, he will consult with Premier Adnan Menderes and American Ambassador Fletcher Warren and other Turkish officials. Presumably, he will meet also with Jordan's King Hussein and Iraq's King Faisal who, together with leaders from Lebanon, are conferring at Ankara with Menderes and Turkish President Celal Bayar.

First Call

Turkey is Henderson's first call. State Department press chief Lincoln White said Henderson will decide there what other Middle East countries to visit.

Turkey, a neighbor of both Russia and Syria, is closely allied with the United States. The Turks are members of the North Atlantic and Baghdad Pacts. They are reported fearful of being outflanked by the Communists if Syria, whose army has been seized by pro-Soviet officers amid an outburst of anti-Americanism, becomes an out-and-out Soviet satellite.

Dulles' instructions to Henderson were to obtain first-hand impressions of developments in the area and reactions to those developments there.

Henderson will report by cable regularly to Dulles.

Leaders Say Bill To Pass Next Week

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—A compromise civil rights bill was agreed upon today by congressional leaders in an extraordinary series of conferences that shattered a deadlock delaying the adjournment of Congress.

The leaders, Democratic and Republican, predicted the compromise would slide through Congress next week, clearing the way for adjournment. President Eisenhower was reported ready to accept it.

The heart of the compromise is a sort of hybrid between the conflicting concepts of jury trials and trial by judges in criminal contempt of court cases arising from alleged violations of voting rights. It would work this way:

In a voting rights case, if a person were accused of criminal contempt for violating a federal court order, the judge would decide whether to try the case with or without a jury.

Maximum Punishment

In either case, the maximum punishment could not exceed six months imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

But if the trial were conducted without a jury and the judge imposed a penalty greater than 45 days imprisonment or $300 fine the defendant could demand a completely new trial before a jury.

The compromise thus steered a middle ground between the bill as passed by the Senate—providing jury trials in all voting rights cases and a variety of other injunction procedures as well—and the Republican proposal that jury trials should be guaranteed only in voting rights cases and then only if the possible penalty exceeded $300 or 90 days imprisonment.

Main Provisions

With the compromise wrapped up by the leaders, the main provisions of the bill as it will come (Continued on Page Seven-A)

Reds' Jinx Ship Jumped By Poles To Ask Asylum

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 23 (UP)—An estimated 20 to 40 Poles fled the Communist jinx ship Batory and asked asylum in Denmark today.

The freedom seekers were among 722 passengers who arrived here aboard the 14,000-ton Polish liner two days ago on Poland's first big tourist cruise since the Poznan uprising of June, 1956.

Neither Danish officials nor the Batory's captain could say definitely how many passengers were missing when the liner sailed for its home port of Gdynia at midnight.

No one seemed surprised at the defections. The Batory has been a bad luck ship to the Communists ever since American Communist Gerhart Eisler jumped bail in New York and fled to East Germany aboard it in 1949.

The Communists were forced to take the Batory off the North Atlantic run in 1951 because they lost so many crew members in free world ports and because New York shipworkers refused to overhaul it.

WITNESS TESTIFIES

Star's Love Scene Said To Occur

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 23 (UP) — Maureen O'Hara's claim that she could not have been involved in the "cuddling" episode printed by Confidential magazine because she was in Europe at the time led the defense today to bring forward a new witness who gave a new date for the alleged love-making incident.

James Craig, one time doorman and assistant manager of Grauman's Chinese theater, testified last week that he saw Miss O'Hara and a "Latin lover" romancing in the theater in November, 1953. That led to Miss O'Hara showing a passport as proof that she was making a movie in Spain at the time.

Man's Arms

The defense at the criminal libel trial today brought forward another assistant manager of the theater, Michael Patrick Casey, 28, now a television director, who said that he saw Miss O'Hara embracing in the arms of a man "early in February" of 1954. Miss O'Hara returned to the United States in January, 1954, her passport showed.

Casey said he checked employment records at the theater which showed he worked there from Feb. 8 to April 14, 1954.

Miss O'Hara's brother, Charles Fitzsimons, contradicted out of court, called Casey's testimony untrue and said "we'll deliver another smashing blow when the time comes."

Under cross-examination by Deputy District Attorney William L. Ritz, Casey said he did not see that Craig claimed he witnessed—that Miss O'Hara was sitting on the man's lap facing the rear of the theater.

"They were in affectionate embrace. His one arm was around her, his other hand holding hers," Casey said.

First witness as the trial resumed after a day's recess was novelist William Bradford Huie, author of "The Revolt of Mamie Stover" and other books and magazine articles. Huie was called by the defense to help it establish what was obscenity.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 23 (UP)—Deputy Dist. Atty. William Ritz said out of court today that actress Corinne Calvet told him an investigator for Confidential magazine threatened her to say the magazine's story about her love life with her two husbands was true.

The allegation was promptly denied by defense counsel Arthur Crowley.

Ritz said Miss Calvet told him that an investigator for the defense came to her home and told her "she had better slant her testimony in favor of Confidential. She told me she definitely felt she was being threatened."

Confidential's story detailed intimate scenes in Miss Calvet's married life and claimed her "boudoir kindness" exhausted her spouses.

Crowley said "we have never threatened Miss Calvet in any way, shape or form."

Sheriff Wins Week's Delay In Ouster Try

BOONEVILLE, Miss., Aug. 23 (UP)—On the basis of a technicality, Prentiss County Sheriff George W. Rutherford Jr. won another week's delay today in the state's attempt to force an ouster election against him.

The state's request for a mandamus action against the County Board of Supervisors, which has twice declined to set a recall election day, was argued before Circuit Judge Raymond Jarvis.

Not Legally Served

State Rep. Eck Windham of Prentiss County, attorney for the sheriff accused of allowing bootleggers and gamblers to flourish, gained the delay on grounds papers were not legally served on the supervisors.

Windham claimed that the corner's commission of Claude Spencer, who served the papers last week, expired in 1950. Judge Jarvis first ruled against Windham. Fearing Windham's challenge might result in a reversal by a higher court, backers of the recall move then joined in asking that the papers be quashed.

Fireman Appointed

Judge Jarvis then appointed city firemen Wendell Stacey as a disinterested party to serve the papers and set the mandamus hearing for 10 a.m. Aug. 31.

J. A. Cunningham Sr., the elderly Booneville lawyer who heads the citizens group seeking Rutherford's ouster, represented the anti-sheriff forces. Dist. Atty. N. S. Sweat of Corinth, in a brief statement, re-affirmed to the court his belief that the supervisors have no recourse but to set a recall election date.

Residents of West Carroll have bought $58,348 worth, or 81 per cent of the quota of $71,850.

The state percentage of the goal achieved is 51.9, and the national average is 54.2.

COMPARISON MADE

Louisiana School Terms Longer Than Mississippi's

More than 90 per cent of Louisiana's school children attend school the required nine months a year, Mrs. Ione Hill, president of the Louisiana Classroom Teachers Association, said yesterday.

Her comment came as a comparison to the situation in Mississippi, where the Congress of Parents and Teachers is urging a nine-month school term and competitive teacher salaries.

In Louisiana, it is compulsory that all children through the age of 15 attend school nine months a year Mrs. Hill said, whereas in Mississippi the state provides aid for only eight months and the ninth month is paid by the districts which provide it. Also, the compulsory school law in Mississippi was recently abolished.

The 10 per cent or so in Louisiana who are under the required age, but don't attend school are chiefly physically handicapped children, Mrs. Hill added.

40 Per Cent

Mrs. A. L. Hendrick of Jackson, Miss., first vice president of the state P-TA, said that only about 40 per cent of Mississippi's children attend a full nine months school term, and she pointed out that Mississippi teacher salaries rank the lowest in the nation.

"According to our most recent figures, Louisiana teachers rank 17th in the country as to salary," Mrs. Hill said. "Sixteen states pay more, on the average, than Louisiana."

"Our main problem right now," Mrs. Hill continued, "is not compulsory schooling, but a great need for qualified teachers."

Needs Cited

She said that Louisiana needs 2,500 qualified teachers right now. "And in some parishes as few as 66 per cent of the teachers hold a college degree," she continued.

Mrs. Hill said that this need for qualified teachers springs from two factors — an increase of industries is bringing in more and more families to the state, most of them with children, and the average teacher salary here, though 17th in the nation, is still far below those paid by businesses and industries.

She said that the average salary for a beginning teacher in Louisiana is $3,100, whereas most industries in the state will start a new college graduate at around $4,800.

The average teacher salary in Mississippi is $2,442, Mrs. Hendrick said.

Bell Returns From Reunion Of Battalion

C. C. Bell, Jr., veteran of 717 days of combat during World War II, has returned from Newport, Tenn., where he attended the annual meeting of his old outfit.

About 70 men representing the 105th Battalion were present for the confab. Most of them were from Battery A, Bell's group.

The gathering was the seventh annual one for the men.

Bell, owner of a West Monroe manufacturing firm, commanded Battery A at the close of the war. Previously he had served as an executive officer.

Investigating Texas Case Of Missing Coed

DALLAS, Aug. 23 (UP)—Sheriff Bill Decker said today that a conference with police officers from two other cities and a Texas Ranger "laid the groundwork" for an investigation into the disappearance of Texarkana coed Virginia Carpenter.

Midland Police Chief Harold Wallace, Denton Police Chief Andy Anderson, Denton county Sheriff Wiley Barnes and Texas Ranger Lewis Rigler of Gainesville all got together with Decker in his office today to discuss the case of the 21-year-old coed who vanished in 1948.

Decker said the officers have not yet questioned Edgar Ray Zachary, 49, a former taxi driver who picked Miss Carpenter up at the Denton railroad station June 1, 1948, and said he left her off in front of a dormitory at Texas Women's University.

Zachary is being held in the Dallas county jail without bond on a charge filed against him last Saturday by a 25-year-old woman that he tried to rape her in an automobile on Aug. 15.

Decker said the officers laid the groundwork for their course of action by securing information from Wallace, who has talked to Zachary's wife in Midland.

Regulations Set On Barber Shops In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 23 (UP)—The State Board of Barber Examiners yesterday elected a new slate of officers and adopted a set of stricter rules governing Mississippi barber shops.

S. Ross Cockerham of Gloster was named president to succeed L. J. Tucker of Meridian.

Other officers include J.M. Pybas of Greenwood, secretary, named to the board two weeks ago to succeed Tucker upon expiration of his four-year term.

Pybas succeeds R. I. Miller as secretary and Miller remains on the board.

New regulations include: Identifying signs at the entrance of barber shops; full payment of dues to membership in the Mississippi Independent Barbers Assn.; regular X-ray examinations for protection against certain diseases; and no pets allowed in barber shops.

Something New For Returning Tech Students

RUSTON (Special) — Old students will find some new abbreviations to cope with when they register for classes at Louisiana Tech, Sept. 18-19.

Class schedules show several unfamiliar building designations in shortened form.

The abbreviations, however, are "decoded" at the top of the first page of the schedules to help the students find their way around.

Abbreviations

For example, there's EB, which is short for English Building. The English Building, it is explained, was formerly the Chemistry Building.

Another listing is CTH, the letters for Carson-Taylor Hall. The chemists have moved out of their former quarters into CTH.

The School of Home Economics likewise has transferred to CTH, which gives rise to OHE (Old Home Economics Building).

New Buildings

The schedules also include DPP, meaning the Dairy Processing Plant and NS, standing for Nursery School, both of which have been completed in the last few months.

The list contains enough old stand-by shortcuts to make the oldsters feel at home, incidentally. For instance, the abbreviated form has such well known listings as BH for Bogard Hall, KH for Keeny Hall, DA for Dramatics Arts, LH for Lomax Hall, TS for Training School and others.

Preparedness Campaign By Scouts Gains

Troop Eleven of the Boy Scouts of America is meeting with good response to its current "Be Prepared For Accidents" campaign.

Scoutmaster Bob Preddy said the Scouts have found that only about one family in five owns a first aid kit. They are selling the kits to West Monroe homeowners to raise money for scout activities.

First-aid travel kits, which can be tucked into a corner of a suitcase, are also being sold by the Scouts.

Police Jury Handbook In Preparation

The Police Jury Association and its subsidiary, the secretary-treasurer's organization, are preparing a handbook designed to help officials standardize operating procedures by the parishes.

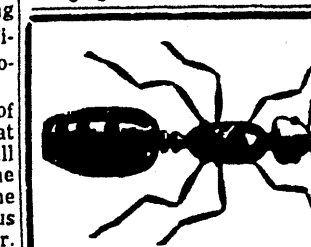

Dr. Rene Williamson, head of the government department at Louisiana State University, will work with the police jurors on the project. The first meeting of the group will be on the LSU campus about the middle of September. The exact date will be announced later.

The handbook is to contain laws affecting police jury operations, the attorney general's opinions concerning the parish operations, and future plans by the supervisor of public funds.

Persons who will take part in the publication are W.A. Breedlove, secretary of the police jury association; Walter C. Peters, Jennings, president of the secretary-treasurers organization, and I.E. Legendre, Thibodaux, president of the police jury association.

The last such publication was issued in 1928 and is now considered outmoded due to the rapidly changing laws in Louisiana.

Prevention Plan Of Integration To Be Reviewed

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 23 (UP) — The Arkansas sovereignty commission will meet next week to consider a plan which will prevent Little Rock public schools from integrating this fall, Gov. E. Faubus said today.

Faubus said the integration of Little Rock public schools will be the major issue brought up when the 12-member commission meets next week.

Faubus said he had talked with several members of the commission concerning possible plans of action, but declined to reveal what they might be.

"Whatever action is taken must first be approved by the commission," the governor said.

Constitution Week

Seeking to uphold the standards set by the founders of the United States, the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, has launched a major effort to promote a nationwide observance of the week of September 17-23 as Constitution Week. It is expected that Constitution Week will be declared by President Eisenhower and by governors and mayors throughout the nation.

"Never since the adoption of the Constitution 170 years ago has it been so essential that the citizens of this country understand the Constitution and the protection it affords them," Mrs. Frederic A. Groves, president general of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, said in announcing plans for the observance of Constitution Week.

Mrs. Ray L. Erb, chairman of the national defense committee has been named chairman of the observance.

The Constitution," stated Mrs. Erb, "defends us from fallacies that the experience of 3,000 years condemns; from dictatorships which is abhorrent to every American concept; from the totalitarian state that regiments men, their minds and their bodies. From these and like evils now so widespread on earth our Constitution daily defends us. It stands between us and the great blasphemy that man is a creature of the state.

The peculiar glory of the Constitution of the United States is that it is not a charter of rights granted by a government to a people, but a limit of powers to which a vigilant people restricts its government. It is not a government edict which the people must obey. 'We the people of the United States'—these seven potent words remain, all subsequent world upheavals notwithstanding, the most revolutionary words on record."

Constitution Week should have the strongest kind of support by officials and citizens.

Forces are constantly at work in an effort to tear down the best form of government and the greatest way of life ever conceived in this world. Some of these forces are malicious and deliberately seek to destroy. Others are activated by people who have no realization of the evils they would face in a government by bureaucracy or dictatorship and not by the people.

We need constant reminder that those ideals for which we have fought numerous times can slip away from us if we do not guard them jealously.

The Daughters of the American Revolution is one of the organizations which works to remind us that our Constitution is a vital part of the American way of life and that it must be preserved if this way of life is to survive.

These efforts deserve the strongest possible support.

One-Third Socialized

We are approximately one-third socialized. And if the trend continues at the rate it has followed since 1929, in 50 years 99 per cent of our economy will be socialized and only one person out of 100 will be privately employed.

That startling observation comes from Emerson P. Schmidt, director of economic research for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He points out that last year nearly one-third of the national income was channeled through government, either federal, state or local. He adds: "Just as human wants are unlimited and insatiable, it appears that the pressure for government intervention and expenditures is unlimited and insatiable."

Dr. Schmidt is particularly concerned with the continuing effort to load more and more activities and functions on the federal government. As he sees it, "We've seemingly become incapable of distinguishing between national problems and nationwide problems." Washington now runs 54 grants-in-aid programs and 13 new ones are in the current budget—including one for assisting states to plant trees!

The results are inevitable. The government bureaucracy grows. The proportion of our earnings taken by government tends to increase. More and more government controls and regulations come into being to the detriment of the free market.

As a consequence, he finds, "...our growth rate has not been what it could be under more favorable tax treatment and less debilitating regulations." According to him, since 1946 our per capita real income (which is income adjusted for changes in taxes and in prices) has increased only $182, or about $18 per year per person.

It is frequently said and commonly believed that the demand for new services and interventions by governments comes from people and so is irresistible. Dr. Schmidt characterizes that as "almost 100 per cent hokum and buncombe." He is convinced that the demand comes, instead, from a comparatively small number of researchers, writers and intellectuals. They get their ideas widely talked about—and then "...the politicians latch on to them and make them their own."

Is the situation hopeless? It is not, in Dr. Schmidt's view. Today, he feels, the basic drift of thought in the Western World is toward more conservatism—and that this drift can be capitalized upon. We can, he argues, get better representation at all levels of government.

He makes his final point in these words: "If we each begin somewhere at the local level, within a few years we can change the socio-political climate in the direction of greater productivity and more freedom for all."—Alexandria Daily Town Talk.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Uncalled-For U. S. Note To Canada Can Bring Undesired Repercussions

The State Department has addressed a note to Canada which is clearly beyond its province and therefore will sooner or later return to plague this country. The occasion for the note was that last April the Canadian government complained that the names of Canadian citizens were being used by too freely before Congressional committees.

This note really refers only to Dr. Herbert Norman, the Canadian Ambassador to Egypt, who had committed suicide. However, it could be applied to other Canadians some of whom had deluged the American market with fraudulent stocks and others who have been raiding American industries with their own and Swiss money, some of which is of doubtful origin.

standpoint as a reporter, authoritative origin, that Norman had committed suicide because any investigation of him by his government could implicate between 60 and 80 Canadians and Americans. Lester Pearson, Canadian minister for External Affairs, was Norman's friend. It was surely no news to Pearson that Norman's name had been mentioned in various hearings before Congressional committees over a period of several years. Therefore the fact that Norman's name came up in March before the Senate subcommittee on Internal Security could have been a shock neither to Pearson nor to anyone in the State Department.

But his suicide was a shock; the dispute over his suicide notes, their publication in this country and Pearson's denial as to their authenticity, created a climate antagonistic to Pearson not only in the United States but in Canada. The Canadian Embassy wrote a note to the State Department complaining about the references to Canadian citizens on April 10; the State Department replied on April 18; but now on August 13, the State Department replies all over again.

Forward-Looking Republicans On Keen Political Scent Again In Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Forward-looking Republicans here are up early these mornings, like a hunt club about to ride to hounds, bright eyed and full of bounce. They are on the political scent again, and neither President Eisenhower's disappointment over the record of congress, nor his resentment of their poor report cards, is giving them little concern.

They are confident they can carry the house of representatives in 1958, and that they have a qualified heir apparent to the White House in Vice President Richard M. Nixon. And since any politician's first concern is the next election, that Republican prospect isn't bad.

GOP dependence on the civil rights issue and the anticipated swing of the Negro vote to Republican candidates in districts where that vote holds the balance of power is reminiscent of little foxes, with mouths watering, sitting around the den, waiting for the vixen to return. Rep. Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester, N. Y., the ostensible author of the original civil rights bill, has admitted that he hopes to become governor of New York on the strength of that authorship. Other house members from Illinois, Ohio and Michigan, other states with big Negro votes, have similar aspirations for the future.

What is slightly amazing is that for this session at least, the civil rights issue on a national basis has overridden in importance every other issue involving legislation—foreign aid, farm subsidies, school construction and public power, to name those of major importance. Like the members of the hunt club, House Republicans have reacted to it as the hounds would at the baying of the hounds after fresh quarry.

There are definite reasons for this which are not conceded, even in response to direct questions. One is that every Republican would like to think that on civil rights the party can carry enough additional districts to win the House of Representatives, even if the present political issue of inflation and cost of living—must be avoided.

Hope that President Eisenhower can have a Republican senate during his last two years in office isn't too high, and some of the more practical GOP solons have privately written it off. That why any interim shift which would even the present senate at 48-48 would be immediately seized upon, the party leaders predict, to employ the vote of Vice President Nixon to reorganize committees, with Republican chairmen, and give the party control of the leadership.

If there is a note of uncertainty in this Republican optimism, based largely on the anticipated appreciation of Negro voters for the GOP effort to enact a drastic civil rights bill, it is the possibility never openly conceded, that President Eisenhower's coattails won't figure much in 1958. The president's popularity rating is still high in polls, but the 22nd amendment, political veterans fear, will make Dwight D. Eisenhower in effect a lame duck president during his last two years.

Also, the house vote to slash foreign aid appropriations $800,000,000 under the president's request, and the subsequent refusal to restore any of it, despite his appeal, is interpreted here as meaning that a number of GOP congressmen, far from clutching at Ike's coattails, will be emphasizing their independence on the foreign aid issue. This is being watched by Democrats with smug satisfaction, as their votes, which once kept foreign aid above the 3 billion dollar level, helped out it to 2½ billion this time.

It's an old and tried theory of members of congress that in voting on important national questions, you have to give some voters something to be grateful for. That applies to the Negro vote and the civil rights bill. It is not a bread and butter issue, but there aren't many of those around any more. The Republicans will argue that nobody much is concerned any more for his bread and butter, and that civil rights represent a high moral principle as the alternative to which a political party can resort when things are booming at the supermarket.

The workers in a plant—all of them, not just members of a union—vote for a plant grievance committee which settles such matters as a punch in the nose of a foreman or a worker. The employees in a shop—all of them, not just union members—vote for something called Committee d'Entreprise, a shop committee which decides on the social welfare problems.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Divorce Is Avoided When Wife Increases Knowledge

Milly's home was unhappy. And her children were unduly scolded by their daddy, chiefly because of maladjustment in the adult erotic realm. For most divorces start in the bedroom; not the kitchen. Wives, be sure to study the booklet below, especially for the sake of your children. It's easy to have a devoted husband. So learn the technique.

Case V-372: Milly B., aged 28, is the indifferent wife of Terry who was described yesterday.

"Dr. Crane, I never did like housework," she protested in tears.

"And even after our first baby was born, I wanted to work and hire a woman to look after the house."

"But Terry insisted I stay home and be a housewife. Then he bought this little place out in the country."

"Well, I was never a country lover, so I hated it. But I was pregnant with our second baby, so I tried to put up with things."

"And Terry likes to read. I don't. So we had little in common. We have drifted farther apart. I can see that he is unhappy and ready to leave."

"But I don't know what to do to stop it. We just aren't compatible but our three children make it very complicated."

Attracting Wives Every successful wife soon learns that she must be an actress in her own home.

For she must feign ardor on many occasions to keep from deflating her husband's ego.

Most American males have absorbed an erroneous notion that women are very passionate creatures.

So when their wives show little fervor and often act indifferent, it wounds the male ego.

Deflated in his own pride, he then feels bitter and ugly. So he subconsciously decides to whittle down his wife's ego to an even lower stage than his own.

Thus, he scolds and finds fault with her.

and yells at the children and becomes a nagging husband.

Nagging Husbands "Nagging" is usually linked with wives. But there are literally millions of nagging husbands, too.

They find fault and indulge in biting sarcasm and affront their wives in public.

Such men often are victims of a sexual inferiority complex, regardless of whether they are 29 or 49.

But they are probably more numerous after 45, when they are panicky about slipping into a permanent platonic state.

So smart wives must learn the facts about the male sex ego and then become actresses. Feign ardor and you'll soon have a happy, devoted husband again.

That will not only be a great boon for you but a double blessing for your children.

For millions of youngsters are scolded and "bawled out" unnecessarily when the real cause for the ill will of the dad is maladjustment which lies in the erotic realm.

Male Sexology Men and women are born with marked differences in their two major hungers, namely, the gastric and erotic.

Thus, the husband may require 3,500 calories of groceries per day while his wife can be quite content on 2,500.

Women have recognized this difference since the days of Adam and Eve. And wives have even tantalized their mates with delicious viands so their husbands would go far beyond the 3,500 calorie input.

But men also have much greater erotic hunger than women, though wives have largely ignored this vital fact.

Thus, most divorces start in the bedroom instead of the kitchen!

So send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents. Insure a happy home, especially for your children's sake.

CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

Democrats To Argue For Preservation Of Plowmen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (CQ)—That hardy perennial of postwar politics, the Great Farm Debate, will reappear in 1958 in a new disguise. This time the issue may be: How many farmers do we need?

Democrats seem ready to form a Legislative League for the Preservation of Plowmen, while Republicans will march as the Citizens Assn. Against Subsidization of Subsoilers.

Clear indication of the shape of the coming struggle came in the Aug. 6 hearing by a special Senate Agriculture subcommittee on the nomination of Don Paarlberg to be Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

Paarlberg, chief theoretician of the Administration's farm policy for the past four years, came in for some rugged cross-examination from Sens. Stuart Symington (D Mo.) and Hubert H. Humphrey (D Minn.), strong critics of that policy.

He readily conceded that the Administration's plan to lower price supports was designed to turn some farmers toward the "desirable alternatives" of non-farm employment. But he denied Symington's charge that the policy "is simply planned bankruptcy."

Paarlberg had particular praise for people who "continue to live on their farms and take part-time employment in an adjoining city. In many cases, they are improving and increasing their farm operations while they add this additional source of income."

Humphrey Enraged That observation appeared to enrage Humphrey. "Why should the farmers be the only ones who get less?" he demanded. "Because they say to them, 'Well now if things aren't good on the farm, you have got to get a car that you can't pay for; go on into town and get a job, and then you can make up for it.'"

"This," the Minnesota Senator shouted, "is just like saying to a doctor, 'Don't worry about your profession. If you can't make enough off being a doctor, there is a chance in town you could work in the filling station. Go on and get a job!'"

Whatever Humphrey may think of it, there's no doubt the trend has set in. The United States lost about 10 million farm residents from 1910 to 1956. In the last six years alone, the number was cut 2.8 million, from 25.1 million to 22.3 million.

In the last three of those years, however, the farm population remained stable, as fewer farmers moved to town and more began commuting to city jobs.

Chief factor in this historic decline has been a migration from farm to city that has averaged about 850,000 persons a year since 1950. The migrants include persons of all ages, but most are in their post-high school years.

An Agriculture Department study showed half the farm residents who were between 13 and 18 in 1940 had moved off the farm by 1950. As a result of this youthful migration, the age of the average farm resident is increasing markedly.

In 1954, for instance, one-sixth of the farm operators in the country were over 65. More than three-fifths were over 45.

The decline of farm population has been felt in all sections of the country, but most heavily in the South, where one-seventh of the farm population has disappeared in the past six years.

Administration economists regard as significant the fact that the migration from farms has been heaviest in low-income farm areas but the economic problem remains most difficult in those same areas because of high birth rates. One estimate is that 1,280,000 farm youths in low-income areas will reach working age this decade, while only half as many farm men in the same areas die or retire.

Unofficially, some Government experts think the farm population will decline another five to seven million by 1970—down to 7 or 8 percent of the national population.

Touch And Go

THERE is no situation worse... Than that of "touch and go"... Where "go" could mean the end... Of delicate connection... A relative or friend... There is a deadlock serious... That you would like to break... And yet each time you say a word... It seems a big mistake... If only both of you would smile... And clasp the other's hand... No doubt, you would be happy... And your hearts would understand... However stubborn you may be... How much you think you know... Don't spoil your happiness in life... By playing "touch and go."

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Political Isolation Cases Being Considered By West

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst
Two cases involving political isolation of nations are now being considered by the Western world.

In one, Secretary General Hammarskjöld is weighing the possibilities of a visit to Hungary, whose ruling regime has been persona non grata to the non-Communist savagery.

In the other, the Western powers and some Arab leaders are considering political isolation against the newly emerged leftist Syrian regime.

In both cases there are possibilities of serious mistakes.

Visit Seems Likely
Despite Hammarskjöld's agility at avoiding equivocal positions, an official visit from the United Nations seems very likely to ameliorate the Hungarian position. The political cold shoulder and cultural isolation are means of keeping alive the awareness that the government of Hungary is a puppet, installed by Russian guns over the dead bodies of many of her freedom loving people.

It is a badge of shame.
In the Syrian case the free nations are moving slowly and waiting to see what may happen. In the few days since the emergence of pro-Communist forces, there have been signs that the situation may not be as bad as it looked at first.

The government is disavowing any deviation from its previously proclaimed policy of neutrality in the East-West conflict, despite the personal antipathy of the leaders for the West.

Since this is the first case in which Arab leftists have gained control of a country, there is no precedent for judging the sounds they make. Nevertheless, statements from Damascus do not have the ring of the normal Communist line after a coup.

Instead of broadcasting the rise of the proletariat and mouthing the customary slogans, the Syrian government is trying to play down the connection with Russia which has been ascribed to it in Western reports.

President Eisenhower has indicated a belief that the Syrian story is not yet told. First estimates that she had fallen into the ranks of Russian satellites may not be true.

Say No More
In that event, the imposition of pressure from outside might prove to be a push instead of a hindrance. Syrian leaders openly say so. They are asking the world to refrain from giving them this push into Russia's arms.

The report that there is an important influx of Russians into Syria has been current for several days without confirmation. It has been linked with Syrian designs on Israel.

It is certain that Russia is doing all she can to take advantage of the events in Syria, just as she has tried in Egypt.

But if Russia should use Syria for an attack on Israel, the Eisenhower Doctrine would come into full force. The world's two greatest powers would face each other over an open cockpit. Syria has nothing to gain from such a situation, and the Russians can be expected to avoid it.

Recordings Out
WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (UP)—The Interior Department today prohibited use of electrical devices or recordings in taking migratory game birds during the 1957-58 hunting season.

The department announced an amendment to the migratory waterfowl hunting regulations which it said is broad enough to apply to all migratory game birds.

The deadly effectiveness of electronic devices in calling ducks and geese to the hunters' guns and the potential threat of excessive kills brought about the order, the announcement said.

The order prohibits the use of "recorded bird calls or sounds or recorded or amplified imitations of bird calls or sounds."

Ross L. Leffler, assistant secretary for fish and wildlife, announced last May 17 that the electronic waterfowl-calling devices had been reported devastatingly effective in luring birds within gun range.

He added that their use was being studied with a view toward a possible ban on control measures.

Leffler at that time cited reports that a new type of call in the form of a recording of the sounds of flocks of geese feeding had proven so effective in its realistic reproduction that it extended use could threaten preservation of the species.

Reports from east coast hunting areas where the electronic devices were used last year were that in one case five hunters killed their limit in 90 minutes and on two occasions during that period as many as 2,000 geese hovered over the blind. In another case on one farm where there were four shooting pits a kill of 1,285 geese was reported.

A survey in one east coast state indicated a kill and crippling loss of 100,000 geese last fall, a substantial increase over previous years with much of the increased kill attributed to use of electronic devices.

Representatives of four independent oil producers' associations mapped plans today for combating what was termed the "damaging refusal of some major purchasing companies to accept allowable production."

Represented at the meeting were the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association, North Texas Oil and Gas Association and the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association.

13-Day Schedule
Texas petroleum industry has been on a 13-day producing schedule since June 1. Some purchasing companies have initiated "pipeline proration" or the taking of only a percentage of the allowable.

Independents have charged this practice is increasing and alleged that some purchasing companies with foreign production discriminate against domestic crude in order to bring in cheaper imports.

2-Phase Plan
Representatives of the four independent producers' associations determined on a two-phase objective.

"Take necessary steps to require all common purchases of oil to buy ratably all oil tendered along pipelines where pipelines now buy. This is to eliminate the present practice of companies buying at full allowable from fields in which they own production and practicing pipeline proration and severance in other fields along the same pipeline."

"Take necessary steps to require common purchaser oil companies and their affiliates to cut their own production statewide in the same proportion below allowable statewide that they or their affiliates cut purchases from other producers below the allowable of those producers."

NO FALLOUT

Big Mushroom Fails To Touch In Atom Blast

ANGELS PEAK, Nev., Aug. 23 (UP)—The United States today detonated an atomic device so high above the grounds — suspended 1500 feet in the air from a helium-filled balloon — that the stem of the mushroom cloud formed by the blast failed to touch the earth.

As a result of the height of the blast and the fact that it did not suck up dirt from beneath the balloon, Atomic Energy Commission scientists reported there was virtually no fallout.

13th Blast
The nuclear device, 13th to be fired in the 1957 test series at the Nevada proving grounds was detonated at 6:30 a.m. (CST). The shot had the code name of "Doppler" and experienced observers on this lookout point estimated it had intensity equivalent to about 10,000 tons of TNT.

The flash of the fireball was visible as a brilliant orange glow in the sky to observers on this peak 55 miles from ground zero. The sky was lighted up as far away as Los Angeles to the southwest, Reno and Salt Lake City to the north and northeast.

500 Witnesses
About 500 troops witnessed the blast from slit trenches 3,500 yards from ground zero. As a "closed" shot, newsmen were not permitted closer than Angels Peak.

The AEC announced that eight experiments were recorded on the sequence timer and about 30 military planes engaged in support mission maneuvers within minutes after the mushroom cloud was formed in the early-morning sky.

The cloud began drifting to the north and east and within minutes it disappeared into a cloud formation as it began losing its mushroom shape.

FIREBALL FROM DOPPLER—13th Nuclear device of the current 1957 atomic series rises over Nevada Test Site at 5:30 a.m. August 23rd after being detonated from a balloon 1,500 feet in the air. Cloud later rose to 36,000 feet. Fireball is seen from approximately 13 miles away and approximated 10,000 tons of TNT. (AP Wirephoto from Nevada Test Organization)

PROSPECTUS PREPARED
Preliminary action on the $4,500,000 bond sale voted overwhelmingly by local property owners on July 30, will get under way August 28 when city bonding attorneys mail the "offering prospectus" to potential bond buyers throughout the nation.

The bonds, to be sold September 10, will be offered to banks, insurance companies, private investors, and other interested parties.

Funds raised by the sale are to be used to expand and improve the city's water and electric systems.

Interest on the bonds must not exceed six per cent and they will be repaid, over a period of 30 years, from revenues gained from the sale of city-produced water and electric power.

Bonds will be awarded to the lowest and best bidder and officials are anticipating no difficulty in finding buyers because of the city's "unusually high credit rating."

A New Orleans firm, Foley, Cox, and Judell, will handle the sale, which amounts to a very small percentage of the total assessed property in the city.

UP's Russell Jones
Star Reporter To Be Assigned To Red China

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (UP)—United Press Correspondent Russell Jones, winner of a 1957 Pulitzer Prize for his coverage of the Hungarian revolt, was nominated by the U. P. today to go into Communist China with the first group of American newsmen.

Jones currently is in Warsaw where he has been reporting developments in Poland. He has applied for a visa from the Chinese Communist government and will fly to Peking as soon as it is granted. The U. S. State Department Thursday granted permission to 24 American news organizations to send in reporters.

Lone Coverage
Jones, 38, was the only American newsmen to stay in Budapest throughout the height of the Hungarian uprising and its suppression by Russian forces. His coverage of that story won him this year's Pulitzer award for international reporting.

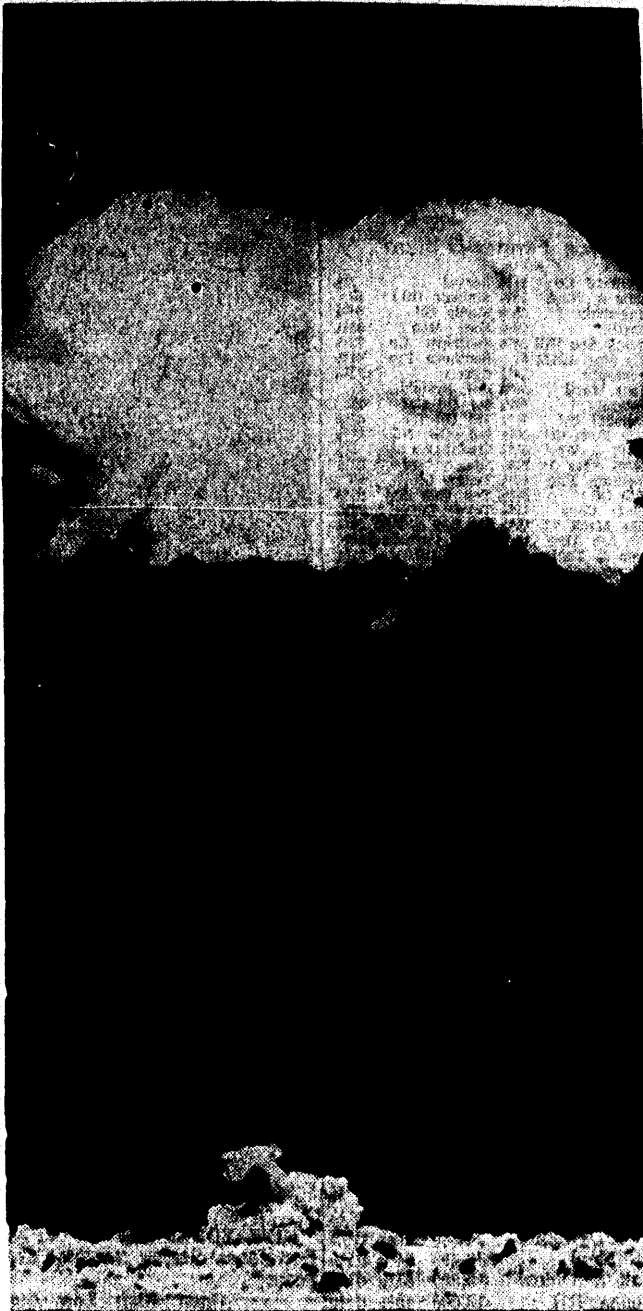

Jones joined the U. P. in 1949 in London. Subsequently he worked in Prague, Vienna and Frankfurt. A few days after the Hungarian uprising began, he drove through the countryside to Budapest in a small car showing the American flag.

When the Russians launched their reprisal, American and most other Western newsmen in Budapest left in a convoy for Austria. Jones remained and in the days that followed told the story of the freedom fighters.

Two men who had pleaded guilty here to forgery were taken to the Louisiana State Penitentiary yesterday morning by Deputies J. R. Bell and Hoyt Moncrief.

PROSPECTUS PREPARED
Preliminary action on the $4,500,000 bond sale voted overwhelmingly by local property owners on July 30, will get under way August 28 when city bonding attorneys mail the "offering prospectus" to potential bond buyers throughout the nation.

The bonds, to be sold September 10, will be offered to banks, insurance companies, private investors, and other interested parties.

Funds raised by the sale are to be used to expand and improve the city's water and electric systems.

Interest on the bonds must not exceed six per cent and they will be repaid, over a period of 30 years, from revenues gained from the sale of city-produced water and electric power.

Bonds will be awarded to the lowest and best bidder and officials are anticipating no difficulty in finding buyers because of the city's "unusually high credit rating."

A New Orleans firm, Foley, Cox, and Judell, will handle the sale, which amounts to a very small percentage of the total assessed property in the city.

PUBLISHERS CHARGE

Newspapers Hurt By Postal Hikes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (UP)—The American Newspaper Publishers Association said today that House-approved increases in second class postal rates were "arbitrary and discriminatory" and would place a penalty on growth of newspapers.

Frank A. Daniels, president and general manager of the Raleigh, N. C., News & Observer and Times, told the Senate Post Office Committee "daily newspapers want to pay what it costs to handle their second class mail but not costs that belong elsewhere."

The committee is holding hearings on a House-approved bill to raise postal rates in all categories. Among other things, it would add one cent to present first class and air mail rates and would raise second class rates by 60 per cent over a four-year period.

Little Chance
The measure, designed to add $2 million dollars to annual postal revenues by 1961, has almost no chance of winning Senate approval in these final days of congressional sessions.

When the hearing ended, however, Sen. Thruston B. Morton (R-Ky.) called for an immediate closed door session to approve the bill. But chairman Olin D. Johnston (D-S. C.) demurred. He said he would confer with Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.), ranking GOP member of the committee, about the possibility of such a session next week.

Daniels, representing the ANPA, objected particularly to a provision in the House bill which would exempt from the second class increases any newspaper with a press run of less than 5,000 circulating in only one county.

"Obviously unfair," he said. "The discrimination in this, the obvious unfairness, is that one publication should pay one rate, and a competing publication still another," he said. Ralph Nicholson, president and publisher of the Dothan, Ala., Eagle, who represented the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association, joined Daniels in opposing the 5,000-run exemption.

Nicholson said the Southern publishers opposed any provision "which picks out segments of the press or groups of mail users for penalties or preferment through higher or lower postal rates than other mail users in the same class."

Daniels also challenged the post office department's method of computing second class costs. In figuring its annual deficit, he urged Congress not to recognize "the unfair and untrue charge" that newspapers received a mail subsidy without further study on the question.

Two men pleaded guilty to charges against them in Fourth Circuit Court yesterday morning, with Judge David I. Garrett presiding.

Sentenced to $300 and costs or 60 days for drunk driving was David W. Simmons. He also pleaded guilty to driving without an operator's license and was fined $25 and costs or 10 days in jail, plus 30 days compulsory in jail.

Abe Sims was also sentenced to 60 days or $300 fine and court costs for drunk driving. He was fined $5 and costs or five days for driving with improper lights.

Move To Abolish County With 7-1 Negroes Passes

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 23 (AP) — Proposed constitutional amendment to abolish Macon County, Ala., where Negroes outnumber white residents almost 7-1, was passed by the State Senate today and sent to the house.

The bill was called up by unanimous consent during a truce in a Senate filibuster on an unrelated matter.

If approved by the House and ratified by the voters, the measure would do away with Macon and divide the land and population among five neighboring counties—Bullock, Elmore, Lee, Montgomery and Tallapoosa.

The amendment would be submitted to the voters in a statewide referendum timed to coincide with the Democratic primary next May. It ratified the abolition would take effect four years later, giving the county time to wind up its affairs.

Macon is the site of famed Tuskegee Institute, a Negro college. Many of its residents are Tuskegee faculty members or graduates.

Leaders Say Bill To Pass Next Week

before Senate and House for final ratification are these:

1. The attorney general would be empowered to apply to federal courts for injunctions to halt violations or threatened violations of voting rights. Violators of the injunctions would risk contempt of court action. If it were civil contempt action—designed to induce obedience—there would be no jury trial. If it were criminal contempt action, the compromise proceedings announced today would apply.

2. A new civil rights division would be set up in the Justice Department, with an assistant attorney general in charge.

3. A section designed to guarantee qualified Negroes and other minorities the right to serve on federal juries whether or not they are qualified under state law.

4. A federal civil rights commission, with subpoena powers, to investigate civil rights problems.

The leaders agreed today that the House Rules Committee will fashion an amendment to this fourth section to make plain that persons making unauthorized disclosures of commission proceedings shall not apply to newsmen.

There had been protests that reporters doing their job of gathering the news could be jailed under the provision.

Johnson Comments

Concerning the compromise on the jury trial issue, Senate Majority Leader Johnson (D-Tex.) said:

"This seems to be an appropriate middle ground.

"Judged on its results—making possible the passage of the first civil rights bill in 82 years—the compromise is good.

"Judged on its merits, I am sure it will produce many strong differences of opinion. It was the price of getting a bill this year. I do not think the price was too great."

Party leaders unveiled the agreement at an unusual joint news conference in the office of House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.). Johnson and the two Republican leaders, Sen. Knowland of California and Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, were there.

All the leaders expressed confidence the compromise would be passed swiftly.

No one seemed to doubt that the House would act favorably on it. First indications from the Senate were that Southern Democrats opposed to civil rights legislation would vote against it but not filibuster against it to delay passage.

Body Of Youth In Gold Mine Is Recovered

TIMMINS, Ont., Aug. 23 (AP) — The body of 15-year-old Ronnie Blakemore, who tumbled into an abandoned gold mine shaft while plunking rocks into the bottom, was recovered today. He smothered under an avalanche of debris. A teen-age companion was hauled out alive last night.

There never was much hope for young Blakemore after only his hand was seen sticking out of loose dirt in the old 1,400-foot shaft. Rotting timbers limited the rescue work, and only one man of the 89 rescue miners was able to work at a time.

One Alive

Ten feet above him the rescuers had found 16-year-old Bonar Scholes alive, but in pain. Buried deep in the muck 20 feet below the surface, the lad was picked out by miners who scooped the dirt from around him with their bare hands.

Dr. W. G. Bissonnette was lowered into the shaft on a rope to give the semiconscious youth a sedative. "He behaved like an absolute Trojan," said the doctor. "He cooperated in every way when he was pulled up although he must have been suffering pain."

Young Scholes was hospitalized with shock, and was reported in fair condition.

The two boys were in a group of five who started tossing stones into the old Vipond gold mine last night to hear the echoes. All were from Timmins, a gold mining and paper center about 175 miles north of Lake Huron.

Fence Collapsed

The fence surrounding the 25-foot-deep shaft collapsed when the boys leaned against it. To get better echoes from the shaft, they ventured onto the old boards across the top. The old wood soon gave way under their weight.

Maurice Gayther, 14, and Bonar's brother, Terry, also 14, scrambled to safety as the cover collapsed. Peter Burke, 14, caught hold of the top but couldn't pull himself up.

Kept Calling

Tilotta said the trooper kept calling Mrs. Tilotta several times a day until she finally agreed to meet him.

Tilotta said his wife had left Houston after a fight with her sister and brother-in-law near New Orleans in July.

He said he had heard about the trooper because his wife had written about him to a friend in Houston.

A few days after the discovery of the body, officers found Mrs. Tilotta's abandoned car in the New Orleans airport. They also found a set of fingerprints and a man's sock, along with red undergarments similar to those on the body.

Packed To Leave

But her husband told officers the sock probably belonged to him and had been scooped up by his wife when she packed to leave.

Fingerprints found in the car were being examined by the federal laboratories in Washington.

Mrs. Tilotta's mother of a 15-year-old daughter and step-mother of two, wore a pink dress and carried a clear plastic purse on the night she vanished. Both the purse and dress were missing.

The Jefferson Parish coroner's office said earlier this month Mrs. Tilotta's death could not be classified as due to foul play.

dress and telephone number. The trooper was not identified.

The woman died while visiting relatives in Jefferson Parish.

Brown said "All information thus far obtained has been given to the Jefferson Parish authorities."

"Nothing definite," he added, has been determined, and "Trooper Roberts emphatically denies any implication in the woman's death."

Mrs. Tilotta's Husband, Thomas

Mrs. Tilotta's husband, Thomas Tilotta, 38, Houston garage owner, told authorities his wife dated a trooper just before she disappeared July 19.

Four Teenage Girls Injured As Truck Careens Off Road

Four teenage girls were injured at 8 p.m. yesterday, when a pickup truck in which they were riding missed a turn in the road and slammed into an embankment. Thirty minutes before that, a Negro woman was hit by a car and dragged several feet along DeSard street before the car came to a halt.

The four girls were injured when their truck came to a Y in the road, and the truck continued straight, going off the highway.

Mrs. Judy Knowles, 18, of Norris Lane, West Monroe, a passenger in the vehicle, stated that they were traveling along a gravel road, near White's Ferry road in West Monroe, on the way to the home of the driver, Mrs. Sylvia Caldwell, 18, West Monroe.

She continued that the lights were on "dim," and the "Y" in the road was not sighted until the truck was too close to the edge of the road to make a turn.

Others in the truck were Mrs. Linda Halley, 19, of the Claiborne Community, and Miss Floy Griffiths, 18, of Bastrop. All four were thrown forward by the jolt of the crash, and hit the windshield.

Mrs. Caldwell suffered a deep laceration of the forehead and an arm injury. Mrs. Halley received a chest injury, and Miss Griffiths was severely cut on the face.

The skin above her eye and over the bridge of her nose was torn back, and she suffered considerable loss of blood.

Least injured was Mrs. Knowles, who had a knee injury. She stated that when she saw the crash coming, she braced herself and avoided extensive injury.

Rushed To Hospital

All were rushed to St. Francis hospital, where they were receiving treatment late last night.

At 7:30 p.m., Curtiss Farmer, 15, Negro of 120 Phillips street, West Monroe, driving east on DeSard street, struck Angeline Williams, 16, of 1103 Grammont street, as she was crossing DeSard street beyond the intersection with 11th street.

Farmer skidded 32 feet before hitting the elderly woman, and dragged her 12 feet before he was able to halt his car. The front of the hood was dented in by the impact.

A Mulhearn ambulance rushed her to Conway Memorial Hospital, where she underwent surgery for a compound fracture of two bones of the left leg. She also suffered multiple contusions and abrasions of both legs.

Monroe police who investigated the mishap charged Farmer with reckless driving.

Workmen Battle To Safety From 100 Feet Underground

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23 (UP)—Fifteen workmen battled their way to safety today after being trapped three hours behind a wall of flames, smoke and gas fumes 100 feet underground in an 8,000-foot long sewer tunnel.

While gasmasked firemen pushed through from an open end of the excavation project in the city's Highland Park district, the trapped workmen fought flames with portable fire extinguishers dropped to them through an 18-inch air vent.

Eleven of the sandhogs emerged safely about two and a half hours after the fire flared in the motor of an electric locomotive used to haul mud and rock. Four others waited for all the smoke and carbon dioxide fumes to clear before walking to sunlight about a half hour later.

City firemen, police and construction workers, joined by experts from the U. S. Bureau of Mines, formed a massive rescue operation minutes after the fire flared at about 6:45 a.m. (CST).

Ed Watkins, Tennessean, W. Va., operator of the locomotive, said he was hauling three cars when "something blew up."

The flames ate through the rubber insulation on the motor's electric wiring, sending thick clouds of dense smoke billowing through the tunnel.

Fumes Endanger Lives

Deadly carbon dioxide fumes poured from the electric battery of the flaming motor to compound the danger for the men trapped just beyond the 3,000-foot mark in the 15-foot wide testing chamber.

Firemen dragged compressed air hoses into the darkened tunnel as other workers set up emergency fans, smoke ejectors and suction equipment.

The trapped men appeared in good condition as they raced to safety and inhaled their first breath of fresh air since they first entered the tunnel on the morning shift.

D. Curtis Smith, son of a famous architect, and himself a worthy successor, removed his name from the office door, on doctor's orders, and he announced that he was starting retirement.

He then found time to develop a hobby, the acquiring of Shetland ponies, in which he had an investment of nearly $100,000 and for a time these absorbed his attention. But not for long. A little while ago he accepted a place on the state architectural board as inspector or something of that sort. Now he is named president of Greater Ouachita Port Commission. This just proves that a really all round experienced and capable man can not be suddenly forced in to the obscurity of retirement.

There is too great need for men like D. Curtis Smith to let them pass suddenly out of active life!

Jury Acquits Col. Berger Of Homicide

sel, told the court it must decide whether, after Berger was put on notice that "something was going wrong" in the mortar firing, "did he act as a wise and prudent man in the discharge of his duties?"

Frisbee declared there "was no proper check" made to "insure that mortars were in their proper location." Therefore, he said, "the court can find no other verdict except guilty" of the negligent homicide charges.

Frisbee also declared that consideration of the testimony by Maj. Robert O. Phillips, over-all commander of the exercise, would lead to a verdict of guilty on the dereliction of duty charge.

Berger earlier today contradicted testimony of three other officers on events occurring just before and during the fatal accident.

Berger said Lt. Col. Walter Short, firing demonstration commander, "ordered me" to resume firing after one cease-fire order had been given. Short testified previously he gave the first cease-fire order when shells began hitting short of their mark, then told Berger he "may resume firing" if the mortars were properly placed.

Testimony Contradicted

Berger also contradicted testimony by Phillips, who said he held Berger responsible for artillery safety. Berger said Phillips told him in a briefing session that the artillery officer—Berger—had no responsibility regarding safety measures.

Berger also disagreed with the testimony of Lt. Col. Lloyd G. Swink, an observer at the demonstration. Swink said he ordered a cease-fire and asked if firing was going according to plan after it appeared to him the mortar fire were falling short.

Berger said when he talked with Swink he could not understand him because of faulty communications.

At another court-martial last week, Lt. Rosser L. Moody Jr., 22, of Toano, Va., was acquitted of four charges of negligent homicide in the same firing range accident.

Cwiklinski defected from the ship in London in 1953. He later obtained U. S. citizenship.

The mass defection here was carried out under the nose of Poland's Minister of Justice Marian Rybicki, who was listed aboard the Batory as an "ordinary tourist."

Some of the Poles reported at police stations to seek asylum even before the liner sailed. Others waited until it was out of port.

Quart Of Milk Nickle Cheaper At Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 23 (AP)—Housewives here could buy a quart of milk today for a nickel.

Less than it cost them previously. Many retail stores put into effect prices of 23 cents instead of a previous 28 cents, cut made possible by the initiation of wholesale milk docks. Wholesale prices went down as retailers sent their own trucks to pick up the milk instead of having wholesalers deliver it.

Rev. And Mrs. Charles Littleton's Home Provides Setting For Party Honoring Miss Delores Gonzales

The gardens of the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Charles B. Littleton provided the setting for a charming alfresco party, honoring Miss Delores Gonzales, fiancée of Clarence Johnson.

Welcomed by Miss Elizabeth Van Matre and Miss Kay Terrell, the guests entered the gardens along a pathway lighted by rows of hurricane lamps, and through an arch of twined greenery studied with bright blossoms.

The service table was on the patio, and was decorated with a colorful centerpiece of pink roses and trailing roseaemontana. The crystal punch bowl was at one end, where Miss Lila Fite and Miss Carolyn Cooper alternated at the table. Crystal platters held the petit fours and mints. Tables for four were arranged for the guests and Miss Charlotte Salley was the amusement hostess.

Among those signing the bride's book were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gonzales, Mrs. Clarence Johnson, the Rev. and Mrs. Littleton and the Misses Diane Laird, Lila Fite, Sylvia Hinton, DeLana Cooper, Patricia Roberts, Glenda Sue Johnson, Jackie Johnson and Belle Johnson. College Students Must Learn New Words For Winter Wardrobe Talk

WOMAN'S BEAT

By GAY PAULEY

United Press Staff Correspondent Fashion this fall has its own version of the college entrance exam—a whole batch of new terms for the chic coed to know.

For instance, Quad coat, skirt-lotte and campus strutter.

B. Altman and Co., one New York store, as a public service to the puzzled coed, has compiled and published an "unabridged dictionary of 1957 college fashions."

With the store's permission, here are excerpts, with a couple of my own rung in.

Black Crepe (adjective): Fashion revival, as in black crepe dress. Smooth!

Campus Strutter: A dashing sports coat, in wool, leather, oil-skin, etc.

Car Coat: Not too long, not too short, perfect to wear over shorts.

imitation fur hat, beanie, overblouse, full length coat, raincoat or trimming on a sweater.

Madras: Cotton plaid originating in India, migrating first to men's wear, now omnipresent in college shops.

Magnified Herringbone: Big pattern this fall.

Motor Scooter Jacket: A sport short.

Raccoon: Diurnal and nocturnal animal. Greyish brown and bushy.

Habitat: Muffs, gloves, slippers, handbags, longcoats, short coats, dresses, suits, sweaters.

Rope (verb): To get all tied up in long lines of beads and metal chains.

Skin: Ate: A culotte that is part shorts, part kilts.

Miss Opal Sanderson Complimented With Tea And Miscellaneous Shower

The reception rooms of the Choudrant Baptist Church were beautifully decorated for the tea shower, honoring Miss Opal Sanderson, one of this season's brides-elect.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. James Parnell, Mrs. T. H. Seismore and Mrs. Lynn Sanderson.

The honoree, frocked in sunny crystalline, wore with her gift corsage of white Colorado carnations and white accessories, received the guests with Mrs. Jack Sanderson, Mrs. Lynn Sanderson and Mrs. Oren Hammons.

The service table decor was in muted pink and green, and bore a central arrangement of pink and white summer flowers flanked by pink candles in crystal holders. Completing the table was the crystal punch bowl and crystal trays of petit fours and dainties. Mrs. Fred Dugan and Mrs. Clinton Parnell assisted in the serving.

Miscellaneous Shower Hosting Miss Sanderson, at a miscellaneous shower, were Mrs. John Hibbard, Mrs. Jewell Pringle, Mrs. Clinton Parnell and Mrs. Elmer Hartline, in the Hibbard home.

Summer flowers provided the floral decorations for the receiving area. The bride's table bore yellow and white blossoms combined with crystal service, and Miss Rose Hibbard presided at the punch bowl.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Baby Must Respect Other Children's Rights

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED It is natural for all of us to want to protect the weak and the young. But when this emotion is expressed in the parent's persistent championship of the baby, it may work an injustice to the rest of the family.

It would seem, then, from the older child's standpoint that everything he does is wrong and everything "baby" does is right. This is a poor way to inspire the older child to love the baby. Children must feel that parents are just and fair, no matter what their ages or their positions in the family.

The baby should not be allowed to destroy the older child's toys or possessions, just because he is a baby. If baby grabs, what he grabs should be taken away and replaced with something of his own. "This is Junior's," the mother explains, instead of saying, "Oh, let him have it, he's nothing but a baby!"

Junior's No Villain Junior should not be made to feel that he is a selfish villain because he won't give up to the baby. Of course Baby's viewpoint may be explained to him, too, and that Baby has to earn what property means. But Junior isn't guilty because he wants to play with his own wagon, instead of letting little brother drag it around the floor.

Both children will learn consideration if their own property rights are upheld. What belongs to little brother can't be taken from him because Junior is able to do so. What belongs to Junior isn't Brother's because he is so cute and so little why not let him have it if he wants it? If you would like our leaflet No.

June Girod Parties Continue With Two Showers Given This Week

Parties continue for Miss June Marilynn Girod, fiancée of Hugh Fredrick Baker of Oak Ridge, with two taking place this week.

The Robert Willis' home was smartly decorated in gold and white when Mrs. Willis, Mrs. Earl Bramble and Miss Elaine Williams entertained Miss Girod with a bridal shower.

Arriving guests were presented with lily corsages of gold wedding rings and snowy button mums as favors, with a gold and white corsage of Colorado carnations for the honoree.

The bride's table bore a crystal wedding-ring tree, placed opposite the crystal punch service, and the theme of gold and white was carried out in the costumes.

Miss Girod wore an embroidered sheath in a champagne shade with ebony accessories.

In-town guests were Louise Bayles, Rose Joiner, Barbara Buce, Edna Simmons, Marguerite Malone, Ella Cash, Elaine Garland, Bill East, Sherry Hankins, Sherrell Bennett, Frances Dean Heer, Ruth Marie May, Ricky Thomas, Sherell Roberts, Mack Barnett, Sister Smith, Mandy Barnett, Becky Smith, Angolia Barnett, Sandra Crow, Judy Gunter, James Berry Dumas, Janet Wasson, Judy Crisman and Charlotte Cannon.

The honoree, wearing a pink embroidered sheath with navy accessories, received with her hostesses, and Mrs. Davis greeted the guests in the foyer—with a display of white crepe myrtle in milk glass reflected in the console mirror as a background.

Don't Overlook Dancing As Excellent Exercise

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

From the drum beats of primitive peoples through the days of the nostalgic waltzes, the Rumba, the Samba, the Mambo, on to present day Calypso and Rock and Roll people have been swayed by music and have swayed to it.

This response to rhythm and to melody is a natural part of our make-up.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Death-Bed Promises Made Under Strain; Life Is For The Living

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: I'm a girl, 18, and having lots of trouble at home. My two older sisters are both divorced and have moved in with their children. They each have two boys under 5 years of age who are holy terrors. It's getting so that life around here is unbearable.

I have three younger brothers so you can imagine how crowded this 3-bedroom house is. Both sisters get support checks for their kids but they never give Mom a dollar. Everything goes on their backs. They say they have to look good to attract men. One works part-time, the other loafs. They smoke like chimneys, and buy magazines that are so bad I hide them from my brothers.

My main complaint is they expect me to get up at the crack of dawn and take care of their kids while they sleep. Also, just because I do the family washing and ironing they think I ought to take care of their laundry, too. I had to pass up a good summer job because Mom said I was needed at home. The reason I am "needed" is because we have six extra people here. What shall I do? —Ortha

You're getting the short end of the stick. Try to enlist the help of a clergyman or an understanding adult. Someone should speak to your mother. In the meantime look for a job and tell Mom you refuse to be an unpaid sifter and laundress for your nephews. Explain that you're perfectly willing to help her with your younger brothers, but insist that those two chimneys — I mean sisters — tote their own load.

Dear Ann: I've read your column a long time but I've never seen a problem like mine in the paper. Please help me.

I'm 49, and have been a widow for 12 years. My children are grown and married so I am by myself. I met a man who is wonderful in every way. He has been divorced for 10 years and wants to marry me. This is my problem.

The day before my husband passed away I promised him I would never marry again. I'm afraid if I don't keep this oath it will be on my conscience forever and I'll be unhappy for the rest of my life. Please tell me what to do. — M. E. S.

Death-bed promises are usually made under a terrific emotional strain. If your husband loved you he wouldn't want you to spend the rest of your days grieving and missing out on a chance for happiness.

Room Problems? Betty Lenahan Solves Them

Q. — We are redecorating our living room which faces north and would like some advice. The modern sectional pieces are charcoal, the armless chair is coral with black legs and the tables are limed oak with black legs. What colors would you suggest for the walls, rug, draperies and lamps?

A. — A rather attractive scheme for your living room would be citron walls, a gold rug, turquoise draperies and black and gold lamps.

Q. — I would like some color suggestions for my bedroom. The wallpaper has a pattern of tiny white stars on a pale yellow background. The woodwork is white, the furniture is French Provincial in a cherry finish, the tufted velvet provincial chair is gold and the lamps are whitelink glass. What colors would you suggest for the rug, draperies and bedspread?

A. — Deep purple would be a good color for the rug in your bedroom, and you might get the draperies in light green and the bedspread in a lavender shade.

Q. — I have a Hi-Fi set enclosed in a do-it-yourself cabinet. The wood is not too good and I have stained it walnut. Would it be better to paint this cabinet some color rather than to have a poor imitation of the wood finish?

A. — You could make your Hi-Fi cabinet most attractive and decorative piece by using black lacquer with gold trim on it.

Q. — I am planning to have the sofa and two chairs in my living room re-upholstered and would like some help in choosing the colors. The room is large and sunny and the walls are painted a deep rose with the woodwork and ceiling white. The rug is gray, the draperies are white with a gold thread running through, the tables are blond and the lamps are black figurines with white shades. The sofa and one chair are now upholstered in green and the other chair in gray. I would like something different. What would you suggest?

A. — You could have the sofa upholstered in a medium shade of blue, one chair in black and the other in pink. This would give you a change but will also harmonize with the other colors in the room.

Q. — I have a problem and would like some help. I have just bought new bedroom furniture in a maple driftwood finish and black lamps with white and gold shades. The walls of the room are mint green and the curtains are white and gold. I am at a loss to know what color rugs and bedspread to get that will add a little brightness to the room. What would you suggest?

A. — Gold rugs and a bedspread in an American beauty shade would add bright color accents to your bedroom.

this over with him. He'll put your mind at ease and encourage you to go ahead and get married. Life is for the living.

Mary Lucille Fortenberry, Fiancee Of Ivan Marshall Nott, Is Honored With Bridal Shower In O'Neal Home

Miss Mary Lucille Fortenberry, fiancee of Ivan Marshall Nott of Shreveport, was the honoree at a delightful bridal shower given in the O'Neal home at Oak Grove, this week.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Frank O'Neal, Mrs. A. J. Dupree and Mrs. Harold O'Neal. The honoree received with her hostesses, and wore a frock of pink Italian silk crepe, fashioned with a scooped neckline, fitted bodice and full skirt. Her gift corsage of lavender blossoms was tied in pink satin to match her costume.

Entertaining games were directed by the hostesses for the amusement of the more than fifty guests.

The service and gift tables featured displays of colorful dahlias and zinnias softened with greenery. The bride's table, draped in lace, bore a center arrangement of flowers in which stood figurines of a bride and groom. At one end of the table was the three tiered cake, and at the opposite end was the punch bowl, presided over by Mrs. Harold O'Neal. Mrs. Clyde Schrock was at the cake service.

Those attending included the following in-town guests: Mrs. L. L. Fortenberry, Mrs. Clint Smith, Mrs. Bernis Berry, Mrs. Nerell Jones, Mrs. Iva Barnes, Mrs. Albert Burnett, Mrs. Modell O'Neal, Miss Sylvia Jones, Mrs. Tom Lewis, Mrs. J. T. Phillips, Mrs. Tully Hancock and Mrs. G. Gunter.

Shoppers and merchants have highly approved of the Downtown Park and Shop plan that got under way last Saturday.

Reports are that the plan has already become "extremely popular" and George Moses, chairman of the committee directing the program under the Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday that the use of the new system continues to expand.

W. Monroe Sanitation Setup Gains

West Monroe officials said yesterday that an ordinance to eliminate outdoor toilets had been in effect there for at least two years.

The ordinance came following an announcement of the campaign to eliminate the privies in Monroe.

N. H. Zeagler, West Monroe plumbing inspector, said an ordinance demanding that property owners hook on to city sewer lines in every place where the lines are available had been in effect since he took office two years ago.

Several locations

Zeagler noted several locations in West Monroe where "a few privies" were still in use — in the Negro districts near Phillips and Benson streets. He added that these were being eliminated and that several houses hooked on to sewer lines every week.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Hope To Release More Flu Vaccine In Asiatic Case

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney said today he hopes an additional 2 to 2½ million doses of Asiatic flu vaccine will be released next week.

He did not say whether it would be for civilian or military use, or both. The first batch of vaccine, 502,000 doses released Aug. 12, was shared by military and civilian groups.

Burney also told a reporter there was "no substance whatever" to a report that some of the 502,000 doses had been recalled because they were substandard or harmful.

Previously Burney had estimated that an epidemic of Asiatic flu this fall or winter might strike between 13 million and 26 million persons.

ON MISSISSIPPI CONSTITUTION Coleman Makes Second Bid To Hold Re-Write Session

GREENVILLE, Miss., Aug. 23 (AP)—Gov. J. P. Coleman was interrupted by applause today as he made his second appeal in two days for public support for a constitutional convention.

Addressing the Mississippi Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives, the governor said those who oppose the convention because of fear they will lose seats in the Legislature are letting selfish interests stand before the state's welfare.

"It's true that south Mississippi will gain some seats in the Legislature but they're entitled to them, they have the population," said Coleman. The Delta and much of north Mississippi would lose representation under reapportionment, which Coleman said would be called for in the new constitution.

Losing Population

He called attention again to the state's population losses and said the majority of those leaving the state aren't going to Chicago and Detroit as many think but to neighboring states.

Alabama has won five times as much new industry as Mississippi and without a BAWI law, he said, declaring "Our actions have to suit our words. We've got to put more behind it (the search for industry) than glib salesmanship."

Industry would be encouraged to come to the state, he said, if the constitutional provision for taxation at 100 per cent of value were removed, if limits on land ownership were removed, and if the BAWI principal were incorporated into a new constitution.

Play Safe While You Drive!

Keep alert—chew gum

Avoid traffic jitters and driving drowsiness. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension—helps keep you feeling fresh and alert for safer driving. Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for lively, satisfying flavor and real chewing enjoyment.

AN OPEN LETTER—
To the Automobile Buyers of Northeast Louisiana

In our old quarters at 310 Walnut, we were so crowded for space, it was impossible to operate the type of Used Car Department we desired.

Since our move to our spacious new location and due to the tremendous volume sales of new Oldsmobiles and Cadillacs, we have the most complete selection of thoroughly reconditioned "Safety Tested" used cars available in the entire South.

We're not trying to kid anyone. A used car is a used car, no matter where you buy it. The BIG DIFFERENCE is HONEST RECONDITIONING and the GUARANTEE from the selling dealer. These two considerations plus COMPETITIVE PRICES is our pledge to you!

More Tax For Cities

There seems to be plenty of justification in the position taken by the cities of Louisiana, including Monroe, that they should have a larger share of the state cigarette tax.

The proposal that the Louisiana Municipal Association and the Louisiana Police Jury Association unite in a "solid" front in pushing their legislative demands next year also seems proper and logical.

For many years the demands of the federal and state governments for additional tax money have been so strong that cities have been left behind in the amount of taxes they receive. Fearful that the people would object too strongly to increases in taxes by the federal, state, parish and city governments, the cities and parishes generally have been forced to take the leavings, while the more centralized seats of government grew fat on swiftly-mounting revenue.

To be sure, the state government never has enough and apparently neither does the federal government, but the amount of revenue received by these divisions has increased far out of proportion to that received by the city and parish governments.

ish governments.

President Eisenhower's proposal that the states take over a good many functions now performed by the federal government could well be extended downward a few more steps, so that parishes and cities could take over some functions performed by the states.

A major part of the revenue obtained by the federal government and the state government comes from property owned in the cities and from sale of products in these cities. The remaining part comes from the parishes. Not only should the cities and parishes receive a part of the taxes on land and real property, as they do now, but it seems logical that they should receive a part of the revenue imposed on sales of various items, as a matter of course, without imposing additional sales or revenue taxes.

This could be done if the states would de-centralize and return to the parishes and cities some of the functions the states now perform.

As a start in this direction, an increase in the cities' share of the tobacco tax could well be approved.

Rights Bill Wrong

This week congress is expected to enact and President Eisenhower is expected to sign into law a bill that will further violate the intention of the drafters of the American constitution. This bill, called the civil rights bill, is dead wrong.

The bill is an invasion of states' rights and it provides for secret trials without juries. It calls for imprisonment without jury trials.

There is little consolation to be found in the fact that, if a judge decides he won't allow a jury trial, the sentence he can impose is not half as long as that which could be imposed by a jury. A person who is denied the right of a trial by jury, as guaranteed in the United States constitution, can find little comfort in the fact that he can be imprisoned for only 45 days, instead of six months, or that he can be fined only $300, instead of $1,000. The thing that matters is that he can be branded a criminal by a federally appointed judge without having been granted the fundamental right of a trial by jury.

The bill provides for a federal civil rights commission, with subpoena powers, to investigate civil rights problems. Anyone who chooses can claim discrimination in the matter of voting. As provided in the bill originally passed by the house, jail terms were authorized for any disclosures concerning commission proceedings. In the new measure, news reporters are expected to be specifically exempted from going to jail for reporting the news, but the jail provision still applies to anyone else who might give out information.

For the first time in the history of this country, congress, in violation of the constitution, is providing for secret trials, for the hearings of this commission will virtually amount to trials. In these trials the commission will be aided by an assistant attorney general. When the assistant attorney general and the commission are through with a defendant, he will be flung before a federal judge for automatic sentencing. He will have been tried in secret, without a jury, and with a jail sentence provided for anyone revealing information on the trial.

We have now approached Russia's secret trials. At present the law applies only to cases involving voting, but once we have adopted the secret trial without a jury, the matter of the inclusion of more offenses and of more severe punishment will be simple.

Next week the congress and the president will have approved a law that violates two of this country's most vital guarantees—they will have authorized trials without juries and trials in secret. The way will have been opened for Russian-type imprisonment and liquidation of our citizens.

It is strange that even apparently wise and able men will sacrifice everything to gain an objective. In this case the objective is not that of giving the Negroes the right to vote but embodies the desires of the politicians for these votes, which they believe will be handed out in package form.

Negroes themselves are losing the American heritage which has made this country so great. Nowhere in the world have the Negroes ever enjoyed such protection, such great chances for recognition and accomplishment as they have in the United States. In Africa, where the Negroes originated, conditions are unbearable, compared to those in America. There the Negro must still call the white man bwana or master. The Negroes themselves should rise up and denounce anything that takes away from them the right of trial by a jury in open court. They, as well as the white man, should dread the day when this country authorizes secret trials without juries for them, some day, will suffer because of the loss of this great American heritage.

Reuther's Proposal

In proposing average price reductions of $100 or more for 1958 automobile models, Walter P. Reuther of the United Automobile Workers promises "moderation of wage demands" by the union in negotiating for a contract.

An analogous proposal would be if the companies offered to hold price increases to $100 or $200 if the union agreed to accept a substantial cut in wages.

When Reuther tries to dictate to companies what to charge for their products, it is time to cut down to size. Why the Senate rackets committee is stalling on investigation of Reuther's role in the UAW strike against the Kohler Company is a mystery.

Purchasing power of the dollar is constantly being reduced by prices chasing wages, which largely writes off any benefits workers get from higher wages. But as long as labor leaders demand that employers continue to boost wages, on pain of having their businesses wrecked, prices will continue to rise.

Climbing prices have blunted the edge of consumer demand and the inventory problem has become more serious. Manufacturing industry is slowed down and severe strains placed on business. Economists agree that the only known way to reduce inventories is to price them attractively.

If both labor and industry should grapple with the problem earnestly, the solution of inflation would be within sight. But it will be a sad day for the nation when Walter Reuther dictates both wages and prices.

Iran has banned rock and roll music. Dictatorial actions are to be condemned, but occasionally they result from severe provocation.

Those who do their Christmas shopping and plan their vacations far in advance will be interested to learn that Seattle plans a world's fair for 1960.

French Prime Minister Sees Revolt If Algeria Is Lost To His Nation

PARIS — The Prime Minister of France, Guy Mollet, smoked his cigarettes in a fit of revulsion against the West for having let us fight the rebels alone. The French people will turn to the East, to Russia, "Remember, France cannot be a Switzerland. The French people never have been neutrals. They will not be. They will look to the East."

Grim facts fell from his lips like the long ash from the endless cigarettes which he seldom flicked. Thus he explained the Soviet's role in the Algerian rebellion which so many Americans ignore. As we ignored something called the 38th Parallel in Korea before June 25, 1950, Moscow is playing it cozy. M. Bourges Maunoury explained.

"The Communists does not want us to lose too quickly to the Algerian rebels. 'Moscow supplies the rebels with only 20 per cent of their money and weapons. The Kremlin knows it is not yet ready to step into this part of North Africa. It has ordered the Communist Party to be quiet there and in France itself. It is not yet ready to stir revolution."

Public Forum

AN OPEN LETTER TO MR. JOHN McKEITHEN:

Would you be interested in knowing how an average employee of Southern Bell Telephone Company feels regarding the recent reduction in rates which was such a glorious victory for you?

We realize that at the time of the election for Public Service Commissioner, you promised a reduction in telephone rates. Along with that, you also promised, as a public officer, to work for the best interest of the people. Let's see how that worked!

There are approximately 9800 employees of Southern Bell Tel. and Tel. Company in the state of Louisiana, the largest number of any one company within the State. When you consider that a large per cent of these are heads of families, many with children, this represents a large group of people who are vitally affected. Under the present low earnings of the Telephone Company in Louisiana, the future security of these people is at stake. Many of us have bought stock in the company, thus investing our life savings. Also, our hopes for retirements are on pensions from the company, which could easily be affected. In order to meet the rising cost of living, this company has previously granted salary increases in line with those in the area in which it operates. With present earnings, these could easily be curtailed.

Further, it has already been necessary to send several of our construction crews to other states where the company is receiving a fair enough return to continue with construction work, and it is anticipated that more will go in the near future. Many of these men are having to leave their homes, working a real hardship on them as well as taking their income and buying power from our own cities and state. Is this in the "Public" interest?

The reduction in intrastate calls, as far as the individual is concerned, made such a very small difference. Many of those who received refunds on calls placed during the months prior to the date of the court ruling have commented to us that it seemed foolish to issue checks for such ridiculously small amounts and felt it was unnecessary. Others would not file claims on pay station calls, numerous stating that they felt they got their money's worth. Still, this reduction, when applied to the volume of subscribers in Louisiana, has reduced our earnings $3,940,000 and placed us in the position of being forced to furnish service to many people who desire it. It is unreasonable to expect atom-age telephone service at horse and buggy rates. Why further penalize the telephone company which is the only utility on which customers have to pay ten per cent federal tax? Ask the average telephone user if he considers his telephone service a luxury. Many customers have made such statements as "I wasn't complaining about what the Telephone Company asked me to pay and never have. So why do I have to take an inferior grade of service at my new home. I am willing to pay because I realize that any business is due a fair return from their investments. I just don't think the rate reduction, which affected only the big business man and not the average citizen, was in the Public Interest."

It takes a big man to see his mistakes and admit them, but so doing he can become a much bigger man!

We believe that you can see the reasonableness of this feeling as an employee, and that you will try to be fair in your dealings with all concerned. 9800 employees, their families and friends, represent a lot of votes. Figure for yourself the way you think they will go in the future!

The ouster of our American diplomats and the steady flow of arms to Syria by Russia proves that country has been in their camp all the time.

The red leaders are now trying to conquer the world by using religion. They are slowly winning the whole middle east and the Moslem religion into their camp.

In America now some of the leaders of the strongest religion on earth are in the Red's camp. They should be exposed before they lead their people to the Communist banner, like sheep to the slaughter.

Political Clearance Need For Non-Career Position

Enough has come to light concerning the appointment of foreign ambassadors under the present State Department to establish that political endorsement and clearance with the Republican National committee are the two prime requisites for a non-career post abroad.

That probably does not differ greatly from the procedure under previous Democratic regimes, but it has been emphasized by recent developments, touched off when Maxwell H. Gluck, a manufacturer of ladies wear and a native of Commerce, Tex., was confirmed as ambassador to Ceylon after he had told the Senate Foreign Relations committee in secret session that he could not pronounce the name of the prime minister of that country and revealed that he knew almost nothing about its people.

More recently, information has been pried from the State Department by the committee that the politically appointed ambassadors spend twice as much time away from their posts abroad as does the trained career men. The record absentee was Wiley T. Buchanan of Grand Saline, Tex., who was away from his job as ambassador to Luxembourg for reasons other than diplomacy or illness for 264 days during two years prior to his return.

Buchanan, who had no foreign service training prior to his appointment, was a strong Eisenhower supporter in his state, and an important campaign contributor. He is now chief of protocol in the State Department, a capacity in which he will be the first government official to greet Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip when they first set foot on American soil in October.

Gluck, at Ceylon will replace Philip K. Crowe, a former advertising and travel executive, who was away from his post 182 days in two years, for reasons other than diplomacy or illness.

Gluck, of whom Senator J. William Fulbright (Dem.-Ark.) said that "the average ordinary literate citizen would know more than he did without any briefing" referring to the state department's coaching of diplomatic appointments.

The new ambassador to Ceylon was born in 1899 in Commerce, Tex., of Austrian immigrant parents, who moved to Sharon, Pa., when he was 4 years of age. Starting his first store in Olean, N. Y.

in 1929, when he was 30, he has built the Darling retail ladies garment chain to 139 stores, including a number in his native southwest.

His path to diplomacy has been trod frequently and his lack of knowledge of the country which he drew upon no greater than that of many previous envoys about their assignments. That was demonstrated by his confirmation by the Senate, without a dissenting vote, through the members of the Foreign Relations committee, who had questioned him and heard his admissions, were all present. It was not until a local newspaper printed the part of the hearing transcript which contained those admissions that Democrats seized on the Gluck case for ridicule.

Actually there is nothing new in the revelations about ambassadorial ignorance or absenteeism. Congress has had many evidences of it and the State Department under both parties has been required to ask the political headquarters of the party in power whether it would approve such non-career individuals as were suggested for high diplomatic posts.

Their salaries are $20,000 a year, but it is estimated that many of them spend $50,000 a year out of their own pockets.

This self maintenance apparently gives most of the non-career diplomats a feeling of independence in their jobs, which probably accounts for the fact that almost half of them, or twelve out of 26, were absent more than 100 working days, while of 42 career men, only four took that much time off.

To questions as to where they go, State Department officials explain that those who return to Washington on visits without having been officially directed to return on departmental business are marked as absent from their posts without explanation, but that no penalty attaches. Assistants, listed as charges d'affaires, are career men who mind the store in their absence.

It has been noted that the ambassadors of foreign governments to Washington have a much lower record of unaccounted for absences than non-career U. S. envoys abroad. But the foreign ambassadors in almost every case are career men, paid enough in salaries and expenses by their governments to maintain themselves in the style those nations would wish.

PAUL HARVEY

Protection Money Termed Necessary For U. S. Safety

Boy, we're in a mess! If things are as dark as the President paints them, Ol' Uncle Sam is on the ropes.

Did you hear what Mr. Eisenhower said about his foreign aid budget? Said any effort to reduce it would put the interests of the United States "in real jeopardy."

He offered the "really prayerful hope" that 3.4 billion would be enough, but said to cut 1.2 billion would be "serious."

So serious that he threatened to call a special session of Congress this fall.

That is something the President does only to meet the gravest crisis.

What you and I are told just doesn't make sense. So we must assume there are some things we are not being told.

In which case, if a half-billion dollars stands between us and a crisis so grave as to require a special session of Congress, then our beneficiaries are about to collect on our insurance.

The President surely would not intentionally exaggerate the urgency of this half-billion expenditure.

Yet the utter gravity of his statement and its accompanying threat to Congress are otherwise incredible.

If Congress had failed to vote appropriations for essential bombs and planes and "uns for our own defense, then the President's allusion to the "jeopardy" of our position, and his determination to be understandable.

But he is saying these measures are justified merely by the Congressional effort to cut a foreign aid budget of 3.9 billion to 3.4.

And he leaves us to draw the inescapable conclusion that our nation will survive only as long as it can afford to pay protection money.

In World War II, the United States contributed some 50 billions to our allies (over and above what we spent on our own military forces).

Since World War II we have taxed ourselves another 60 billion aiding other nations.

Since President Truman was pleading for the first foreign aid (called temporary foreign aid) ten years ago, the gravity of the crisis apparently has not eased at all.

We're still barely treading water.

We are still in "jeopardy" if we do not continue to pay, and pay everything the President asks.

I do not believe that another half-billion is going to win or lose the cold war.

But if President Eisenhower does know, and what he says is true, then the situation is indeed desperate.

Old Boxcar Dwelling Unit Hit By Fire

An old boxcar, being used by Negroes as a dwelling place, was almost demolished by fire at 9:50 yesterday morning.

Engine companies 101 and 102 responded to the blaze, located at the corner of Eighth street and Ouachita. Firemen said that apparently the fuel in an oil stove became overheated, burst into flames, and spread to the boxcar.

The boxcar had been discarded by railway officials several years ago, and had been used as a living quarters by Negroes. No one was injured in the fire, which lasted until after 11 a.m.

A grass fire near the A. L. and M. Railway office at the end of Magnolia street sent company 107 to the scene at 12:53 p.m. The blaze was under control within a few minutes and firemen returned to their station at 1:23 p.m.

Engine company 111 responded to a grass fire two miles south of Monroe on highway 165 at 2:17 p.m. They extinguished the flames and returned to Monroe at 2:58 p.m.

Youth Injured In Collision Of Motorcycle, Car

A collision between a car and a motorcycle sent a 19-year-old Monroe youth to St. Francis hospital yesterday afternoon, and demolished his motorcycle.

Monroe police who investigated said that William Ober, 19, of 1213 St. John drive suffered lacerations on the head and knee, and abrasions, when his motorcycle was struck head-on by a car which had just made a wide turn and was on the cycle's side of the street.

Ober was going west on Apple street, when Dempsey Wiggins, 32, Route 1, Monroe, turned off Jackson to go east on Apple. Wiggins' sedan swung onto the left side of the street and crashed into the cycle, bending it in half.

Police took Ober to the hospital where he was treated for the injuries. Wiggins was charged with reckless driving.

Battery Suspect Arrested Here

A Monroe Negro who had evaded arrest since he allegedly struck another Negro over the head with a stick on June 30 was apprehended by Monroe police early yesterday morning.

Taken into custody was R. L. Goldsmith, also known as Charlie Irving, 35, of 809 Marx street. He was arrested at the corner of Renwick and Griffin streets at 4 a.m. yesterday and charged with aggravated battery and use of a dangerous weapon, a stick. Goldsmith is also wanted by Ruston police on a theft charge.

He is charged with beating L. C. Colsey, Monroe Negro, on the head in Jack's Bar, and Colsey needed hospital aid for the wound.

WASHINGTON-PENNSYLVANIA

Believe Eisenhower First President To Fly Plane

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Aug. 24 (UP)—President Eisenhower took the controls and piloted his light plane today during a flight from Washington to his Pennsylvania farm. He is believed to be the first President to do so.

Eisenhower qualified as a pilot about 29 years ago when he was an Army officer stationed in the Philippines, but he has not flown a plane for years.

Other flights he has visited the pilot's compartment and sat at the controls, but today was his first actual control of a presidential plane in flight.

White House pilot Col. William G. Draper made the take-off and landing but the President sat in the co-pilot's seat and handled the controls during part of the 23 minute flight.

"He does a real flying job," Draper said.

Earlier this summer Eisenhower established another aerial "first" when he became the first President to fly in a helicopter.

The late Franklin D. Roosevelt was the first President to take a plane trip while in office.

Former President Harry Truman sometimes visited the pilot's cabin of the White House plane and sat beside the pilot but veteran White House reporters could not recall his ever taking the controls.

ST. JAMES PARISH

Grand Jury To Resume Levee Board Probe

CONVENT, La., Aug. 24 (UP)—The St. James parish grand jury resumes its investigation into the Pontchartrain Levee Board Monday with members of the board and several state legislators summoned to testify.

Sen. Farrell Blanchard of Donaldsonville called the probe "dirty low down politics."

The board was recently criticized by the state supervisor of public funds in an audit, and Dist. Atty. Aubert Talbot confirmed the special grand jury was called to probe the operations of the levee board.

A preliminary investigation by Talbot and authorities of Ascension and St. James parishes led to the grand jury session. It was reported that the jury would be asked to consider conspiracy and public bribery charges.

Mel To Correct
The Pontchartrain Levee Board met last week to correct some of the other items for which it had been criticized. It reduced the salary of board president Emile Poche from $600 a month to $350; dropped the salary of secretary Nasser N. Nasser from $400 to $250; and changed its requirement of majority action to authorize industries to cross the levees for barge work.

One source said the policy of blocking barge work permits led to the grand jury probe. The board had also drawn antagonism for keeping two major industries at odds with them.

To Question Members
Talbot confirmed that the grand jury would also question members of the board of commissioners of the Levee District. There are now eight men on the board in addition to Poche.

The legislators who are reportedly to go before the grand jury are State Rep. Wayne Gaudin of Baton Rouge, Rep. Laurie J. Rousell of St. James, and Sen. Blanchard.

Some Of The Charges
These are some of the specific charges the jury reportedly will consider:

That the levee board issued a permit to a contractor to cross the levee to fulfill a dirt-carrying contract only because the contractor agreed to hire trucks owned by C. A. Blanchard, Jr., State Sen. Blanchard's brother.

That Sen. Blanchard was getting "kickbacks" from a contractor.

That the contractor's permit by the levee board was revoked after he stopped using the trucks of Sen. Blanchard's brother because

MUTILATED TORSO

Missing Portions Of Woman Found

CHICAGO, Aug. 24 (UP)—The missing portions of a woman's mutilated torso — her head, arms and hands — were found today in a large black pail in Lake Michigan off Chicago's North Shore.

Police said the dismembered parts belonged to a torso found stuffed into a floating oil drum off the same area in Montrose Harbor Thursday.

They said the victim was a woman "between 17 and 30" with long dark brown hair worn in a semi-bob. Her face was battered, indicating she was probably beaten to death, police said.

Skin Diver Finds Pail
Today's discovery was made by Harry Bartell, a skin diver who was walking along the harbor when he saw a large black pail bob to the surface and sink again about 200 yards offshore.

Bartell said he dove, pulled up the pail and called police.

Police said the pail was a galvanized iron vessel hammered down from its 22 inch length to 14 inches to seal it tightly. It contained the woman's head, two hands and an arm, all neatly severed, with the arm cut into two pieces.

Police Rush
Police rushed the parts to the morgue in hopes it would provide quick identification to the torso.

An on-the-spot check appeared to rule out any possibility that the body was that of Judith Mae Anderson, 15, who has been missing for a week, they said.

Miss Anderson, the object of an intensive search since she disappeared from home, had blond hair, and Lt. James Gorman said the murder victim was "definitely of Latin extraction."

Today's discovery came while police checked a lengthy list of missing women and sought clues to the butcher killer who disposed of his victim without leaving a scrap of clothing, jewelry or accessories to provide a clue.

The first container, pulled from the water about 150 yards from where the black pail was found, held all but the head, right arm and left hand of the woman.

100,000 New Students Seen For Schools

DALLAS, Aug. 24 (UP)—Baptist General Convention of Texas' Sunday school secretary Andrew Allen announced today a goal of 100,000 new students for Texas Baptist Sunday schools for the coming year.

Allen said an increase in Sunday school enrollment advances the entire church program.

The new goal exceeds by more than 20,000 the top annual increase in enrollment during a South-wide campaign.

The proposed increase would add $4,918,000 to church gifts and $674,000 to mission gifts through the Texas Baptist cooperative program, according to Dr. R. A. Springer, treasurer of the BGCT.

Are Heirlooms in Fashion? By Alton Howard

I suppose that's like asking if sentiment is in fashion any more. I remember when virtually every home had one or more heirlooms — things that had been handed down through the years from grandmothers to their daughters and then to their daughters.

Somehow we never seemed to think of men cherishing heirlooms. It was always the women-folks. And how they loved them! An old ring or pair of earrings or maybe a watch that grandmother wore on her wedding day years and years ago.

Actually heirlooms are just as much "in style" today as ever. But maybe you don't think about it that way. Let me give you an idea. When you come here and select a diamond ring, a bracelet, a watch or perhaps a silverware service for your family, it will be "passed down" to your loved ones and will be mellowed with age and sentiment.

I am taking this opportunity to invite you to come in and see our "heirloom jewelry." It is really beautiful. You can select anything you like, knowing that it is of sterling character and craftsmanship — and happily you can pay for it on the easiest of terms if you desire.

Start your "heirloom remembrance" today. It will be one of the most satisfactory investments you have ever made. Howard Bros. Jewelers, 116 DeSiard, Monroe, La.

State Tourist Commission To Wage 'Courtesy Plan'

BATON ROUGE (Special)—In its initial meeting the Louisiana Tourist Commission offered suggestions for improving coordination among various travel interests in Louisiana. The commission met Friday.

Among the suggestions were: Greater funds for promotion of tourism in Louisiana.

An annual tour for out-of-state people in the tourist business to promote Louisiana as a vacationland.

"Courtesy Campaign" An intensive "courtesy campaign" among Louisianians to impress the value of tourism in the state in the minds of people of the state.

Special promotion of the good food that Louisiana offers in comparison to some of the other states.

Printing of state-distributed literature in a standard size to fit travel racks.

Promote Tourism The suggestions were offered by the 22-member commission recently named by Gov. Earl K. Long to better coordinate the promotion of tourism in Louisiana.

Curt Siegel, executive director of the Department of Commerce and Industry, under whose department the Louisiana Tourist Bureau operates, told the gathering the department will strive to make use of suggestions offered by the commission.

Actually, there was no firm action taken by the commission in its one-hour session here today, though several administrative suggestions were made to improve operation of the Tourist Bureau.

Harry Batt, Sr., operator of Pontchartrain Beach, called for greater funds from the Legislature for the promotion of tourism, pointing out that he spends more in promoting his own business venture than the state of Louisiana does to promote tourism throughout the state.

Scenic 'Vendors' Irving J. Legendre, president of the Louisiana Police Jury Association, declared that formation of the tourist commission "is the beginning of a large thing. I think we're on the right track to sell Louisiana, economically and historically."

Legendre said nature has provided Louisiana with many scenic wonders, and he feels there is a need for more money for advertising Louisiana to the rest of the nation.

Siegel told the commission it was formed to "get your ideas" on how to increase tourism in Louisiana, now the fifth ranking industry in the state from the standpoint of revenue production.

The director of Commerce and Industry briefly reviewed efforts of the Tourist Bureau to stimulate tourist travel in Louisiana, pointing out that six tourist information bureaus operate throughout the state, the Tourist Bureau in the Capitol mails out information on Louisiana's attractions to inquirers, a booth is established for national conventions in New Orleans, and Tourist Appreciation Day last May was greeted with enthusiasm and was highly successful.

Annual Tour The annual tour was proposed by J.W. Simon, Jr., New Orleans, representing the major oil companies on the commission. He pointed to the publicity value of such tours.

Batt said the state of Louisiana "has let tourism slide too long," and urged that the idea of "cultivating tourists" be developed. He urged that brochures

Deaf Man Perfects Cordless Hearing Aid Worn Entirely on One Ear

PEORIA, ILL. (Special)—H. A. Lyons, who himself has been hard of hearing for over 25 years, today announced the perfection of a miniature electronic hearing aid that is so small it is all worn on one ear.

It weighs but a fraction of an ounce and can be slipped on and off easier than a pair of eyeglasses. Wearer gets all-directional pick-up and normal use of telephone. There is no clothing interference because it is worn at the ear, which is the natural way to hear.

Since the aid is tiny and is worn tucked behind the ear, it is practically invisible. Mr. Lyons stated that, although it is powerful enough to fit the most severe hearing loss, it can also be adjusted for the millions of slightly hard of hearing who feel they are not deaf enough to bother with the more cumbersome aids.

It is suggested, if interested for yourself or a friend, to write to Tonemaster Manufacturing Company, 128 South Monroe Street, Dept. 8062, Peoria, Illinois, and he will be glad to send information at no cost or obligation to you.—Adv.

Gaillard: He Began With A Button

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS — French Finance Minister Felix Gaillard, a scholarly young economist with a head-start in this nation's political sweepstakes, is bearing down on his greatest hurdle: Putting France's public accounts back into order.

At 37, the tennis-playing boy wonder of French economics is the youngest French finance minister of this century. If he succeeds in his present task he can become the most notable as well. By almost universal judgment the nation's finances are at one of their shakiest stages since the century began.

Today, while he pushes through new taxes and browbeats other ministers into trimming their budgets, Gaillard keeps an ordinary underwear button on his desk as a reminder of the torturing problems ahead. An aide found the button in a drawer of the minister's office when the Gaillard team took office in mid-June.

Slim Assets

"See that," says Gaillard pointing to the button, "that's all my predecessor left for me."

Even that is an exaggeration. Before the new tax and economy program was adopted, experts estimated that the national reserves looked upon as a grooming ground for potential premiers. In of gold and foreign currency would be basic dry by the end of the summer. Despite the Gaillard economy program the budget still has a deficit of about $2,280,000.

Relatively tall, well-groomed with closely cropped dark hair over his studious horn-rimmed glasses, Gaillard got off to an impressive start as finance minister when he persuaded a reluctant National Assembly to endorse new taxes totaling 420 million dollars.

It was all the more impressive because the same program topped the preceding Guy Mollet cabinet, and Premier Maurice Bourges - Maunoury had fumbled awkwardly in presenting the taxation bill. Before Gaillard took the rostrum, Assembly veterans were already thinking of Bourges-Maunoury as an ex-premier in his first month of power.

Forceful Facts

Calmly, lucidly, without oratorical dramatics, Gaillard presented the situation. He pulled no punches. A person who believes in letting facts speak for themselves, Gaillard simply read out the grim report on the country's finances. Applause showered on him and when the bill came up for a vote it passed with an unexpected, large margin.

In France the Finance Ministry has a sense it is the equivalent of the New York governorship. And from that afternoon in the Assembly, the name of Gaillard went on everyone's list of eventual premiers. Gaillard has already won laurels as a person of unusual ability, intellectual brilliance and skill in economics. He is one of a new, postwar generation, nurtured in the inspiration of the resistance movement.

Gaillard came out of the war convinced, like his mentor Jean Monnet, that France must modernize her industrial plant and methods, and must take the lead in joining her ancient enemy across the Rhine in building a unified Europe. From this conviction stems his reputation as a "strong European," and an advocate of new techniques and wider horizons for French businessmen.

Joined Monnet

In July of 1955 Gaillard headed the French delegation to the Brussels Conference which eventually produced the common market and Euratom plans. A few weeks ago he had the pleasure of sitting on the government bench as Parliament ratified both treaties by heavy majorities.

Married, Gaillard has one son and his wife is expecting. The minister likes both tennis and music, and rates better than fair at each. He frequently starts off the day with an early match against his "boss," Bourges-Maunoury — their aides decline to reveal who usually wins — and finishes up in the evening by pounding out classics or jazz on the piano at home.

INCREASE IN WEST MONROE

Summer Reading Program Attracts Many Youngsters

As the Ouachita Parish Library summer reading program draws to a close, a total of 525 children and teenagers are registered for participation.

The program will end Aug. 31, after having begun June 3.

Some increase in the number taking part was noticed this year, according to Mrs. John Lewis, assistant librarian at the West Monroe branch.

The parish public library in Monroe is the administrative branch for the program, which has been offered now for several summers. Miss Frances Flanders is parish librarian in charge. Besides the libraries in Monroe and West Monroe, the Carver Library in Monroe for the colored and the Bookmobile are also participating agencies.

Although there is no special age limit for the program, most participants are between the ages of six and 14. Five books are checked out by the students at one time, and a record is kept on each person's individual card of the progress he is making. Pins to wear on their shirts and blouses are given the children, to show that they are members of the reading club.

After a child has read 15 books he is eligible for a certificate, which is presented soon after the opening of school in a special classroom program. In addition, the three members from throughout the parish who have read the most books are given special recognition by Miss Flanders.

MARCH OF SCIENCE

Pair Of Virus Cousins Striking More Americans

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP) — A worrisome pair of virus cousins is striking more and more Americans down in ill health and death. They cause a liver disease — viral hepatitis. The late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy was counted a victim.

One of the cousin viruses strikes at the liver through contaminated food or water. The other hits through transfusions of whole blood or plasma from someone who even unwittingly harbors the dangerous cousin in his blood stream.

Each infects and inflames the liver, bringing fever, nausea, weakness, a generally sick feeling, and later the yellowish appearance of jaundice.

As yet there is no defense and no quick, sure treatment. But medical research is stepping up efforts to crack this tough problem.

Health

Health officials report the disease is causing more and more sickness. Estimates range from 20,000 to 50,000 cases annually, with up to 1,000 deaths.

On factor is that it may take weeks or months to recover normal health. Victims must get plenty of rest, follow a careful diet, and forego alcohol to avoid further liver damage. Lost income adds to the burden.

One type of virus causes epidemic or infectious hepatitis. It is spread through food or water contaminated with virus eliminated by other humans. Crowding and poor sanitation help it spread insidiously.

Its cousin is known as homologous serum jaundice, or transfusion jaundice. It doesn't cause as many cases of sickness.

But this virus can be carried without harm at all in the blood of apparently normal people. When they donate blood, the virus can flare up in a person receiving the transfusion.

One Donor

Or this virus from one donor can infect many pints of pooled plasma. Plasma is the blood serum, after removal of red and white blood cells. It is often prepared from many individual pints of blood treated altogether.

Cases of serum jaundice have also been linked with faulty sterilization of hypodermic needles or other instruments.

The American Red Cross refuses to accept as blood donors anyone who is known to have a history of jaundice, or to have been exposed recently to hepatitis.

And, says Dr. Margaret Sloan of the National Research Council, "it is probable that various improvements over the last few years in methods of processing plasma greatly reduce the hazard from pooled plasma." This research is continuing.

Shots

Shots of a medicine or derivative from human blood, gamma globulin, can prevent infectious hepatitis if given early enough. But gamma globulin is apparently not able to prevent the transfusion type of the liver ailment.

Most people recover from hepatitis after six to eight weeks illness, but 5 to 15 per cent suffer new attacks or relapses. Physicians say this is generally because they swing back into normal activities too soon, or don't follow a good diet, or break the taboo against drinking, or are hit by other infections.

Some physicians have reported promising results, with a dozen patients, in quick recovery through a combination of hormones and antibiotics.

NEED EXPERIENCE

Jonesboro-Hodge Looks
For Re-Building Payoff

JONESBORO, La. (Special)—A young team with fair size but lacking in speed and experience will be offered on the football fields by Jonesboro-Hodge High School this year. The Jackson parish Tigers won only one game out of nine last year, but are figured to show a lot better campaign for 1957.

Although the 1956 record might be termed "disastrous," followers of Jonesboro-Hodge are pointing out that Coach Jimmy Gilbert, in his first season here, was doing a re-building job and used a predominantly sophomore squad to furnish his talent with assurance of a brighter year as most of his boys are coming back.

However, the Tigers will again face that tough 11-game schedule that includes most of the better football machines of north and central Louisiana, without the services of such 1956 stars as Jimmy Golden, speedy quarterback and backbone of the past team; Gene Robinson, and outstanding guard; tackles John Cook and Gary Long, ends Jerry Brown and James Alford and halfbacks Charlie Parks and Ben Daniels.

The 1957 Tigers will be built from a nucleus of 16 lettermen, only six of whom are considered seasoned players.

Robert Cook and Danny Hagler are two fine ends and starters from last year. Freddie Cook, a 190-pounder, is fast developing into a fine tackle. Harvey Moffett, a 170-pound junior, is expected to rank among the better guards of north Louisiana.

The backfield has depth and weight, but will be shy on speed. Classiest of the backs are Troy Brant, 175, fullback; Donnie Brunson, 165, halfback; 14-year-old Ronnie Carson, 170, halfback; and a pair of defensive stalwarts, Dennis Mann, 160, and Ronnie Marrus, 150.

The J-H player roster:
Ends — Danny Hagler, Robert Cook, Henry Greer, Roy Young, James Potts, Bob Daniels, Kenneth Caraway.

Tackles — Freddie Cook, Wes Rasbury, Freddie Smedley, Maurice Turner, Kenneth Hodnett.

Guards — Harvey Moffett, Harold Aldy, Robert Robinson, Gray Mann, Ronnie Marrus, Joe Blake.

Centers — Ernie Spurlock, Ronnie Hammons, Harold Bond, Ronnie Lane.

Backs — Laonte Massey, Johnny Garrett, Reggie Holland, Johnny Davis, Ronnie Carson, Donnie Brunson, Morris Douglas, Ed Michaud, Gary Acklin, DeLee Cavett, George Abbott, C. D. Barfield, Gerald Ayres, Troy Bryant, Dennis Mann, and Bobby Jones.

After appearing in the Ruston jamboree Friday, the Tigers open their season at Jena on September 6. The next week they'll meet Bossier here, and follow on successive weeks without an open date with West Monroe, Minden, Neville of Monroe, Natchitoches, Haynesville, Winnfield, Pineville, Ruston, and Bastrop.

Bankston Named
New Cage Coach
At Farmerville

Former Winnsboro High and Louisiana College football player Tommy Bankston has been named head basketball and assistant football coach at Farmerville High School for the coming term.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bankston of Winnsboro, the new Farmerville coach was graduated from Winnsboro High School in 1953 and from Louisiana College last spring.

Bankston was the first string fullback for the Wildcats last year and also lettered on the cage squad.

Two other Winnsboro boys who graduated with Bankston are coaching in state schools this year. Frank Cheek is line coach at Bolton High in Alexandria and Eugene Southern is head coach at Newellton.

Cornell now has won the most intercollegiate Rowing Regatta varsity races—18.

LaSalle Preps For Grid
Jamboree Next Thursday

OLLA, La. (Special)—Football practice at LaSalle High School is in high gear with two-day prep for the LaSalle High Jamboree next Thursday night. This is a round robin jamboree with Winer, Crowley and the Class B champs, Mangham, participating.

Football was first seen in north Louisiana at the LaSalle High School field with an early opener in 1956 and a real treat for the early fans is in store again this year. Each team in the jamboree will play the other team one quarter of football with a total of six quarters being played. The officials for these contests will come from the Central Louisiana Football Officials Association of Alexandria.

Coach Philip White and his assistants Coach Fred Foster and Coach Ray Duke have 51 boys out for the varsity squad. Among these are 13 lettermen. LaSalle had a 8-4 record in 1956 with their final loss coming in the playoffs to the Ferriday Bulldogs.

The following boys will not be back for the Tigers: center Billy Ray Kinney, guards William Moody and Joe Lisenby, tackles Herschel Vinyard, Al State, and Charles Tannehill and Whit Lee, end Richard Milton, and backs Freddie Sheppard and Mike Gaines.

The returning lettermen are ends Charles Gilmore and Jerry Davis, tackle Freddie Bales, guards Mack Wall and Rudolph Alger, center Harold Keene, backs Everett Brooks, Bob Albritton, Don Long, Ben Nichols, Gary Russell and Lynn Gaines.

The coaches are very well satisfied with the team spirit and with the competition very hot for the vacant line positions as well as for the backfield.

The LaSalle squad:

Guards — Mack Wall, Joe White, Rudy Alger, Jerry Ingram, Glen Cupples, Gerry Wright, Billy Woodruff.
Tackles — C. C. Wright, Ralph

Gossard, Merle Patterson, Ronald Cruse, Freddie Bales, Richard Lee, Kenneth Sykes, Joe Lynn Davis.

Ends — Charles Gilmore, Gerry Davis, Jerry Williams, M. C. Richardson, Johnny Cooksey, Jack Womack.

Backs — Everett Brooks, Bob Albritton, Don Long, Ben Nichols, Lynn Gaines, Gary Russell, Jack Young, Alvis Randall, Bobby Brooks, Joe McAdams.

Block Has Speed, Balance To Go With Veteran Club

JONESVILLE, La. (Special)—Loss of only three players off last year's squad means the Block High School Bears will field a veteran ball club in Class B football circles this fall, and Coach Ronald Dry declared "Block's greatest assets are team balance and overall speed."

The list of 15 returning lettermen includes nine starters from the 1956 machine, and, in addition, Coach Dry has ten non-lettermen on hand from which to develop replacements.

The Bruins still may not be powerful enough to rule the district, but Block does expect to have about its strongest football team since turning to the gridiron sport.

Roscoe Wilson, an all-district halfback the last two seasons, and center Barney Atkins, all-district pivotman of 1956, are back to head the Bears' backfield and line respectively.

Lettermen back are center Atkins, 170; guards Lynn Dalton, 165, Austin King, 170, and Stanford Richardson, 150; tackles Tommy Davis, 175, Clint Hardy, 180, Benny Neal, 185, and Jim Ryan, 170; end Carvel White, 165; quarterback Bobby Wright, 155; halfbacks Ed Hutchins, 150, Tommy White, 140, and Wilson, 140; and fullbacks Billy Edwards, 150, and Clarence Richard, 170. All but Dalton, Davis, Edwards, Hardy, King and T. White were in last season's starting lineup.

Other squadmen seeking jobs with the team are backs Lane Babin, 120, Billy Brooks, 140, J. S. Fairbanks, 140, and Adrain Walker, 130; ends Ervin Ellis, 150, and Clarence Mayes, 140; tackles James Sikes, 190, and Wally Walker, 170; guard Wade Purvis, 140; and center Richard Richard, 140.

FOR TIME BEING

'Divorcement' Oil Measure Shelved

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (UP)—Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) has shelved, for the time being, his "divorcement" bill to prevent oil producers from owning retail outlets.

His house small business subcommittee also has bumped into so many complex problems in its two-year investigation of petroleum marketing practices that there will be no restrictive legislation this year. But he has wheels moving in congress, the justice department, and the federal trade commission, so 1958 could spell a different story.

The eldest son of the late president made clear in a recent report on the subcommittee's inquiry that his digging is far from ended. He plans to go into the supply and demand issue, root out of gasoline price wars. He also wants to expand the subcommittee's investigation of alleged price-rigging turned up in spot checks in South Bend, Ind., Denver, Los Angeles and other cities.

Roosevelt's bill was Roosevelt's act petroleum legislation. It grew out of 250 complaints that independent filling station operators were being squeezed out by oppressive leases, unfair pricing arrangements, price manipulation, coercive sales of tires, batteries and accessories, and other dubious marketing practices.

Some testimony confirmed this but it also opened up new fields so completely inter-related that Roosevelt himself admitted further study is required.

WEEK IN BUSINESS

Reserve Chairman Thinks Business Leveling Out

By WILLIAM FERRIS
NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (UP)—Business is spotty.

And the big question is: is the patient just beginning to break out or is he past the worst and headed for a nice autumn recovery?

"Certainly there are soft spots in the economy as well as strong spots," that champion of tight money, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Martin, said this week. And he added:

"I think savings are increasing rapidly. I am inclined to think we are reaching a leveling out process and interest rates may stabilize and even decline."

This was a most significant

Stock Market Prices Show Sharp Drops

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (UP)—Stock market prices tumbled $5,700,000, 000 this week as uncertainty became tinged with pessimism.

It was the steepest drop since the week ended June 22. The total value of all stocks on the New York Stock Exchange is around 215 billion dollars.

The Associated Press average dropped $4.60 to $173.60.

The week began badly when the market took its worst setback since Feb. 11. Worry over Syria was a major factor.

In climactic waves of selling and then of buying, the high-speed ticker tape ran behind for 26 minutes Tuesday. The result was a partial recovery from the Monday break. The rebound continued modestly Wednesday. Prices eroded Thursday and continued their slow retreat Friday.

The five most active issues were Bethlehem Steel off 1 1/2 at 43 1/2, Sunbeam Mining off 3 at 11 1/2, General Motors off 1 1/2 at 42 1/2, Standard Oil (New Jersey) off 1 1/2 at 61 1/2 and Chrysler off 4 1/2 at 73 1/2.

Government bonds turned higher this week after losing ground the two previous weeks. The advance coincided with a flurry of debate in Wall Street over whether interest rates may be on the verge of leveling off.

quire into "the present influence of consignment, commission and company - operated stations in price leadership, maintenance or fixing, or in price discrimination against independent lessee dealers, as possible violations of the anti-trust laws."

Meantime, he invited the oil industry to clean up its own house and adopt an "open door" policy which he said would give the independent retailer a new lease on life and end under-the-table dealings.

Roosevelt said the subcommittee's findings to date "point out the advisability of further investigation at a future time." He said the inquiry had turned up many of the "effects" without fully developing "the causes."

statement from Martin. It was the first time in the current phase of the government's anti-inflation battle that he has indicated inflation might be in the process of being checked.

If interest rates decline, money would not be getting tighter; it would be getting easier.

Inflation Still Here
That inflation was still here became apparent when the Bureau of Labor Statistic announced its Consumer Price Index set another new record in July, rising for the 11th straight month. This meant wage hikes for workers whose contracts are tied to the index.

Within a couple of hours after this announcement the New York Federal Reserve Bank upped its discount rate to 3 1/2 from 3 percent. So did Cleveland. That made it unanimous among the 12 "Fed" banks.

For the fourth straight week the stock market declined. The least in stocks reflected, at least in part, the spottiness in the business picture.

More Lay Offs
Some more lay-offs, all relatively small, were announced by General Electric, Rockwell Spring & Axle Co., Kelsey Hayes Co. But Bell Aircraft recalled workers, as did Westinghouse Electric. The latter company said there was "a noticeable pick up in appliance lines."

Louisiana Top Gainer In Drilling

The weekly report of the American Association of Oilwell Drilling contractors lists Texas as the leading state with a total of 950 drilling rigs active.

Louisiana rates second with 444 active rigs, an increase of 20 over last week.

Oklahoma placed third with 268 a drop of 10 from last week.

The report lists Louisiana as first in total gains for the week showing 20 more rigs active than in the previous week. Texas had 11 new rigs working, but six were either finished or abandoned leaving a net gain of five.

Mississippi had 39 rigs in operation compared to 34 a week ago.

Oklahoma had the largest losses for the week, a decline of 10 rigs. Wyoming had a loss of six rigs and Nebraska and North Dakota tied for third with losses of five rigs each.

The total number of rigs active in the country last week was 2,735, against 2,784 in the comparable week a year ago.

GRAIN

Soybeans Go Downward On Trade Board

CHICAGO (UP)—The week's dealings in Board of Trade futures pushed soybeans as much as eight cents lower, but left other grain steady and the December wheat delivery which lost ground.

Wheat ended the week Friday 1 to 3 1/2 cents lower than the previous Friday, a trend reversal which saw the greatest loss in the December contract. Corn was 1/2 to 1 1/2 higher; oats were 1/4 to 1/2 higher; rye was 4 to 6 1/2 lower; soybeans 6 to 8 1/2 lower, and hard 30 cents higher to 58 cents lower per hundred pounds.

Tolerance Need To Industrialize Claims Editor

GREENVILLE, Miss., Aug. 24 (UP)—Hodding Carter, editor of the Delta Democrat Times here, today told chamber of commerce executives a spirit of tolerance and respect for the individual is an asset equal to physical resources in the South's attempt to industrialize.

Carter said Greenville had such a spirit, and he urged other communities to work toward the same kind of atmosphere.

Industrialists, Carter said, are showing intense interest in the social and intellectual atmosphere of their prospective new homes when considering relocating a plant.

"This interest, he said, "is strictly business. They want their employees to be contented."

The Mississippi Chamber of Commerce Executives Assn. ended its annual meeting by choosing Biloxi for its convention site next year.

The group elected Robert L. Wheeler of Yazoo City president to succeed Owen Neatherly of Laurel.

Others elected included Mrs. Ann Ament of Moss Point, vice president; and George Van Zant of Canton, secretary and treasurer.

Cotton Prices Soften During Last Week

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (UP)—Cotton prices softened last week. Active futures were down 45 cents to $1.60 for the week.

Early firmness reflected scattered price fixing and short covering in distant positions on fading prospects of any new price support legislation this year.

The market eased on reports that Secretary of Agriculture Benson expects to recommend changes and improvements in the farm program to Congress in January. Favorable weather and crop advances also were adverse factors.

The New York Cotton Exchange said consumption last month was about 645,000 bales compared to 650,000 in June and 547,000 last year.

Sales by the CCC of government owned cotton for export against bids opened Tuesday amounted to only 29,026 bales, smallest sale under the present export program. The total sold for export this season is about 3,630,000 bales.

Estimated exports for the week ended Tuesday were about 89,000 bales vs. 83,000 a week previous and 98,000 in last year. Total exports for the season through Aug. 20 stood at 209,000 bales vs. 260,000 a year ago.

VAN-TROW OLDS-CADILLAC

Opening Monday In New, Modern Louisville Plant

Van-Trow Olds-Cadillac, Monroe's authorized Oldsmobile and Cadillac dealers, will open for business Monday in one of the most modern automobile sales and service plants in the South. The shop and used car operations will be conducted on an adjacent area.

Russia Turns Against Hero Who Quit Party

MOSCOW, Aug. 24 (UP)—Russia today turned on one of its old literary heroes—American novelist Howard Fast—because he quit the Communist party and "slandered" the Soviet Union.

For years, Fast has been one of the most widely-read and highly publicized foreign authors in the Soviet Union. His works were best-sellers by Soviet standards.

But, today, the "Literary Gazette," magazine of the Soviet Writers' Union, denounced Fast as a "deserter under fire" who made a "malicious slanderous attack on the Soviet Union."

It took the Gazette some time to catch up with Fast. Actually, he resigned from the American Communist party during the Hungarian revolution last fall.

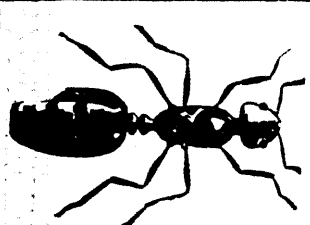

The Gazette said his explanation of his break, written in the left-wing American magazine, "Masses and Mainstream," was "an attack on Russia and the socialist structure of our country."

It accused Fast of using "borrowed false arguments and libelous methods" to attack Russia.

FIREMEN BUSY

SANDWICH, England, Aug. 24 (UP)—Barbara Christie, 22, was granted a maintenance order against her coal miner husband on grounds he deserted her after getting a Yul Brynner haircut.

She said he left home because she wouldn't speak to him when he showed up with his head shorn.

The sales and service operations of Van-Trow will be conducted on 23,400 square feet of floor space under one roof. The body shop and used car operations will be conducted on an adjacent area.

"For servicing Oldsmobile and Cadillac, as well as any other makes, our plant is equipped with the most modern top quality machinery," according to Milton E. (Toby) Trowbridge, vice-president of the firm.

A. T. Van Veckhoven, president of Van-Trow, explained the unique operation of the service department. "Our entire service operation will be coordinated through a control tower which will at all times keep a detail log on the progress of all service jobs in our plant," Van Veckhoven explained.

"Our control tower operator will be able to tell customers exactly what progress is being made on each job and how long it will require for completion."

Another convenience provided for service customers will be a "customer lounge" equipped with comfortable seats, plenty of reading material, radio, television and coffee. "The lounge will provide comfort for customers who wait for a repair job to be finished," Trowbridge said.

A. L. Andrews, sales manager, will head one of the best trained, courteous sales staffs in the automobile trade. And the new plant provides a topnotch place to display and demonstrate Oldsmobile and Cadillac automobiles. The main show room, finely finished with a fancy tile floor, is large enough to display seven automobiles at once. A rear display room will hold an additional 20 vehicles.

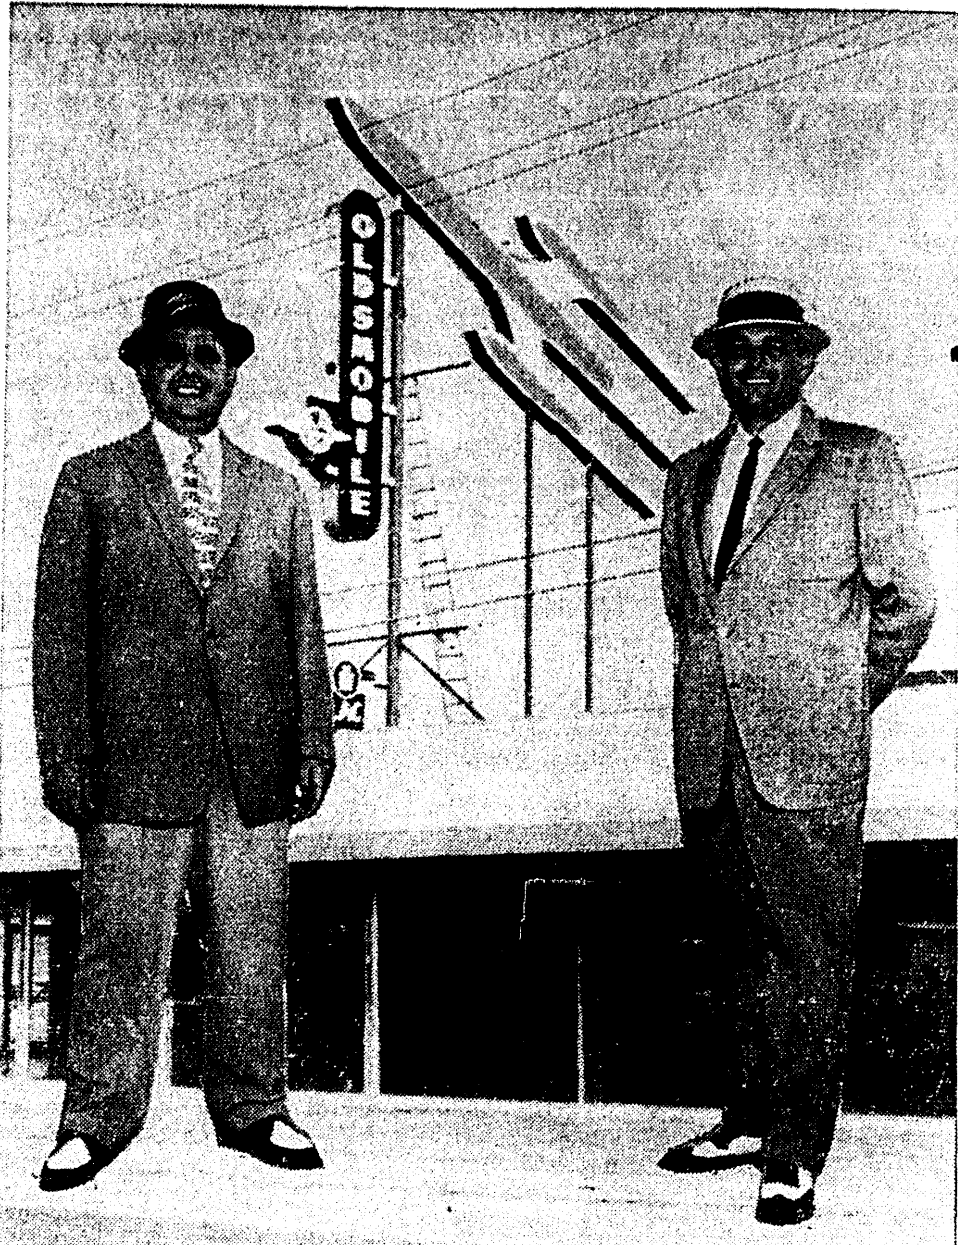

In moving from the Walnut street location and establishing on Louisville, Van-Trow left nothing to be desired in the operation of a modern automobile sales and service plant. Van-Trow has even piped soft music throughout the plant.

"That's for the benefit of our staff as well as our customers," according to Van Veckhoven.

Trowbridge went into a little more detail on the improved service operation. "In moving we brought with us some of the serviceable equipment in the old plant and added considerable new major equipment, including twin post lifts and each service stall."

He explained that the service department will be manned by 30 qualified and experienced men.

"We have done just what we started out to do—provide for the Monroe trade area the best Oldsmobile and Cadillac sales and service operations possible," Van Veckhoven and Trowbridge said.

NAVY BEAN HARVEST LANSING, Mich.—(UP)—Michigan growers made a king-size contribution to low-cost, nutritious high diets when they produced their second largest crop of navy beans on record last fall. The harvest was 96 per cent of the total national yield of navy beans.

Lake Tanganyika in Africa is the deepest lake on earth, 2,100 feet.

Spittoon Is Obsolete Says T&P Railway

DALLAS, Aug. 24 (UP)—The Texas and Pacific Railway pronounced the spittoon obsolete as office equipment today and scrapped 400 of them.

Actually, they were taken out of T&P offices some time ago. They are being crated for shipment to the T&P stores department in Marshall, where they will be sold as scrap metal.

The spittoons being shipped away are porcelain, which took the place of brass. Brass gave way to porcelain, because porcelain did not require polishing.

Tom E. Campbell, who has worked in T&P's accounting department for 37 years recalls there was a spittoon at every desk at the turn of the century.

"Hardly a day went by without one being kicked over," he said.

There was a lot of tobacco chewing and snuff dipping because smoking was generally prohibited in offices. Some authorities believe the spittoon was a major factor in discouraging women from applying for office jobs with railroads.

Army To Show Missile For First Time

DALLAS, Aug. 24 (UP)—The Army will show its new Nike Hercules anti-aircraft missile publicly for the first time during the 1957 State Fair at Texas, Oct. 3 to 20.

The Nike Ajax, which the Hercules will supplement, also will be exhibited. Nike batteries are being set up in a look around Dallas and Fort Worth to protect those cities against air attack.

A full crew will go through a realistic drill to show how the missiles are loaded on their launching apparatus, aimed and fired.

The Nike missile is designed to track down and destroy enemy aircraft. It goes higher than its prey and then swoops down on it.

The Nike is fueled with red fuming nitric acid. It is blasted from its launcher by a propellant like gunpowder that has it going faster than sound in two seconds.

The booster cuts loose from the missile two-and-a-half seconds after blastoff. But the Nike goes so high so fast that its warhead has already made its kill before the booster container hits the earth.

5-MILLIONTH VEHICLE

Auto Industry Has Big Week

DETROIT, Aug. 24 (UP)—In the auto industry it was a significant week because the five-millionth vehicle of the year was built and the period of changeover to 1958 models was at hand or nearly so in auto factories.

Edsel division of Ford has been building its 1958—and first—model cars for several weeks. American Motors Corp. started turning out 1958 models this week and Studebaker-Packard shut down for model changeovers.

The major auto makers—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—all will introduce 1958 models late in October or early in November and their factories will halt 1957 production in mid-September.

Great Chrysler Success It has been a year of great success for Chrysler and Ford, spotty at best for General Motors and another losing battle for the "little two" car makers, Studebaker-Packard and American Motors.

But it would be unfair to count out the "little two." Both have consolidated their operations—Studebaker-Packard at South Bend, Ind., American Motors at Kenosha, and Milwaukee, Wis.—and thus cut their costs.

Both the "little two" have stopped trying to act and spend like members of the big three, and they've zeroed in on certain market targets ignored by the big three.

Studebaker-Packard will step up promotion and distribution of its economy Scotsman, to satisfy people who don't want to pay for the glitzy and power of other-make new cars. S-P also will widen its line of sports car models for Packard dealers.

Chrysler Production Up

Ward's Automotive Reports said Chrysler Corp. production through this week was 909,700, already ahead of its entire 12-month output for 1956.

Last fall, when Chrysler brought out its 1957 lines, the corporation was making another "comeback," the second in three years. Chrysler's 1955 models had battled it out with the other red-hot lines in that high-selling year, but its slightly altered 1956 cars had failed.

The success of the "three years-ahead" Chrysler line justified the big investment.

Ford also made its big 1957 model changeover pay off, and already has built 77.8 per cent as many cars as in entire 1956. Ford will kill two birds with a single stone by using its new Edsel lowest-priced line bodies for the 1958 Fords, also.

three months of 1957 show that the Florida paper is still booming.

While Ft. Lauderdale and Long Island were clocking phenomenal rises, national newspaper circulation crept slowly upward. Gains across the country averaged 6.1 per cent.

The rise in the South Atlantic States was almost three times faster than the national average. South Atlantic dailies averaged a 17.5 circulation boost.

Led by Ft. Lauderdale, all Florida showed amazing gains with a 40 per cent increase.

In the Florida field, available figures show three other dailies with a 50 per cent or more increase. The Orlando Sentinel clocked a 78.5 rise in the six-and-a-half years of the current decade; The St. Petersburg Times is up 52.3

BEAT GENERATION

On The Road, A Book You Won't Soon Forget

ON THE ROAD By Jack Kerouac (Viking Press, $3.95.)

This is the book for what is known as "The Beat Generation," those lost in the backwash of World War II.

Despite the fact this novel drags occasionally because of too many similar scenes, it is one you won't put down until you have read every page. It is interesting and true — maybe too much so for us who prefer to live in a rose garden with a wall around it.

After World War I, a certain group of restless, searching Americans came to be called "The Lost Generation." This group found its truest voice in the writings of the young Hemingway. And for a good many of the same reasons after World II, another group, roaming America in a wild, desperate search for identity and purpose, became known as "The Beat Generation."

Kerouac seems to have caught the spirit and to have become the writing voice for that group.

On The Road is the story of Sal

Paradise, Dean Moriarty and their friends, including the sleek and good looking girls who help to form the "Beat Generation."

The narrative of life among these wild bohemians carries us back and forth across the continent, down to New Orleans and Mexico. The characters buy cars and wreck them, steal cars and leave them standing in fields, undertake to drive cars from one city to another, sharing the gas; then for variety they go hitch-hiking or sometimes ride a bus. In cities they go on wild parties or sit in joints listening to hot trumpets. They seem a little like machines themselves — machines gone haywire — always wound to the last pitch, always nervously moving, drinking, making love, determined to say yes to any new experience. The writing at its best

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Many Interesting Books Received

Although this is the period of comparative quiet in the publishing world, there are still many new and interesting books being received at the Ouachita Parish Public Library. Among this week's additions there are a variety of titles. Three new books of fiction claim the interest of readers. "From the Dark Tower" by Ernest Pavel is a symbolic story of the adventures and activities of a group of people who work for a large insurance company. It is an appealing human story and will attract many readers. "Roll Back the Sky" by Ward Taylor is an exciting story of men who live in the air. It will appeal to everyone who likes a good story and is interested in aviation. "Mandevilla" by Kate Thompson is a sequel to her earlier "Great House." This is a story with a South African setting concerned with the activities of a gracious family who lived in a gracious way. All who read "Great House" will want to read this and many new readers are also predicted.

Non-Fiction
The non-fiction field offers a variety of selection. A book which will be of interest to journalists is "William T. Porter and the Spirit of the Times." This is the account of a man who had a great influence on the early life of our country by the publication of his magazine "The Spirit of the Times." "One Marriage, Two Faiths" by James H. Bossard is a very fine book for people who are planning to marry into a different faith. If you need this book, you need it very much.

"American Families" by Paul C. Glick is a fine book for everyone who is interested in the structure of American family life. "The American University" by William C. De Vane is a very scholarly book treating of the rise of the American university. Scientists and historians will be interested in a new book called "Pursuit of Science in Revolutionary America, 1735-1789," written of Brook Hindle. This is a most worthwhile contribution to a field which has hardly been touched before. Another book dealing with the history of science in this country is "John and William Bartram's America" by Helen Gere Cruickshank. This is an account of the work of two very famous naturalists and of the young country which they loved and explored.

Agriculture
"Petroleum and Its Products" by H. H. Van der Have is a very fine contribution to this field and will be welcomed by those interested in the petroleum industry. "Artificial-Light Photography" by Ansel E. Adams is a book which photographic enthusiasts will surely want to read. A practical book for the tennis player is called "Complete Lawn Tennis Player" and was written by Norman Hills Patterson.

History
There are three new books in the field of history, dealing with a variety of times and places. "Byzantium: Greatness and Decline" by Charles Diehl is a very fine history of this colorful empire of the early Christian era. It is beautifully illustrated and is very fine piece of writing. "A Hundred Hours to Suez" by Robert Henriques is an interesting account of the recent trouble in the Suez canal. Mr. Henriques is a very literate writer and his presentation should be excellent. "Lincoln's Commando" by Ralph Roske is a very excellent account of the life of Commander William B. Cushing. This is a book that students of the Civil War period will not want to miss.

We invite your use of the Ouachita Parish Public Library at your earliest convenience.

BUCKSKIN AND BLANKETS

Stirring Days Of The Old West When Blood Ran Red

BUCKSKIN AND BLANKET DAYS. By Thomas Henry Tibbles. Doubleday.

Written half a century ago, this tells of Tibbles' life of adventure which began a century ago in Bleeding Kansas and continued on the plains where he came to know, love and battle for the Indians. The author, variously a lecturer, preacher, novelist and mainly in Omaha, a newsman, died in 1928. This book, "Memoirs of a Friend of the Indians," was found among his papers and edited by Theodore Bates Cogswell, a relative.

Poverty drove Tibbles, still in his teens, out upon the frontier world. After a variety of extraordinary experiences, he served as a guide for hunters and then for most of a year lived with the Omaha tribe. He was with them as they tracked down the buffalo, rode the warpath against their enemies, wore their beaver cap, antelope shirt and leggings, and his hair, like that of the other braves,

Out of this intimacy came his fight in law courts, at Indian agencies, on Army posts, on the lecture platform and in Congress for the justice denied the Redman by some conquering whites.

He was not bashful about his accounts of his exploits. Twice he was nearly hanged; timber wolves almost made a meal of him and his little brothers and sisters; there was a two-year period when he never owned a suit free of bullet holes; buffalo came near trampling him to death; he talked Jesse James out of shooting him; a dose of strychnine fed him by his enemies just missed doing him in. But he did get around, from John Brown to Louisa May Alcott, from Sitting Bull to Longfellow, and his Indian lore is colorful and fascinating.

STEVENSON'S STORY

A Prophet In His Own Country Is Top Reading

A PROPHET IN HIS OWN COUNTRY By Kenneth S. Davis (Doubleday, $5.).

Probably one of the least understood men in political life today is Adlai E. Stevenson — a man who, though twice defeated for the presidency, is one of the truly great affecting forces in America today.

Davis, who authored General Eisenhower, Soldier of Democracy, does an equally excellent job on Stevenson.

Whether you like Stevenson or not, you'll want to read this book because it is so informative — not only on the man, but about politics and decisions which affected this nation.

Stevenson was and is a man about whom his real close associates know little. Very few people are aware of the tragedies that have plagued his life.

In the book, Davis has set down a brilliant picture of the first half of this century — the nostalgic twenties, the depression, World War II. These are the things that helped shape Stevenson, an average, sensitive, midwestern youth in those days.

Great care has been taken to present Stevenson within the larger frame of the "Stevensons of Illinois" — a family peculiarly blended of Puritan and Cavalier strains, of Democratic and Republican persuasion, and of definite feelings for civic responsibility and practical politics.

None of the major influences on Stevenson's developing character has been overlooked. The great and small tragedies, his early trip to Italy and Russia, his newspaper days, his many places of importance in the Roosevelt administration, his role in founding the UN, and his campaign trails and inner conflicts — all are recorded and presented in the clear light of Davis's judgments.

Soothing, Exciting Savage Beast Makes Mood Music Big Business

By HUGH MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

"Music hath charms," wrote poet William Congreve, "to soothe a savage beast, to soften rocks or bend a knotted oak."

Record companies haven't gotten around yet to providing background music for convicts at rock-softening chores or for lumberjacks whacking into knotted oaks, but they've devoted considerable effort to soothing and exciting savage beasts.

With the advent of the multi-million dollar hi-fi industry, mood music, covering almost every conceivable situation, has become big business.

There's "Music for the Love Hours," "Music to Break A Lease With," "Music to Swipe Hub-caps By," "Music to Change Her Mind," "Music For Expectant Mothers," and even an album entitled "Will Success Spoil Rachmaninoff?"

Mood music runs the gamut from African tribal chants and Trinidad oil drum combos to schmaltzy waltzes, dripping with strings, and fiery Latin rumba bands, pulsating with maracas and marimbas.

Montovani, his violin and his 40-piece orchestra advanced to the august winner's circle of the pops field with a dignified rendering of "Around the World," the theme music for Mike Todd's movie "Around the World in 80 Days."

The music neither shook, rattled nor rolled, it just drifted out lazily and sweetly in the charming, slightly string-heavy style that has made this Venice-born Englishman a leader in the mood music field.

Recording for London Records, Montovani has turned out some 20 long-playing albums that have chalked up more than a million sales and has become something of an international celebrity, with sell-out concerts at Albert Hall and other long-hair haunts.

Other record companies have had similar success with mood music practitioners. Columbia has Percy Faith on the East Coast and Paul Weston on the West Coast. RCA has the Melachro Strings and the ever dependable Andre Kostelanetz. Capitol has Jackie Gleason, who gets moody with an orchestra when he tires of being funny with an audience, or vice versa. MGM has composer-conductor David Rose and his orchestra, and Mercury employs Antal Dorati and the Minneapolis Symphony and Howard Hanson and the Eastman Rochester Symphony to fill its mood music requirements in a stirring fashion.

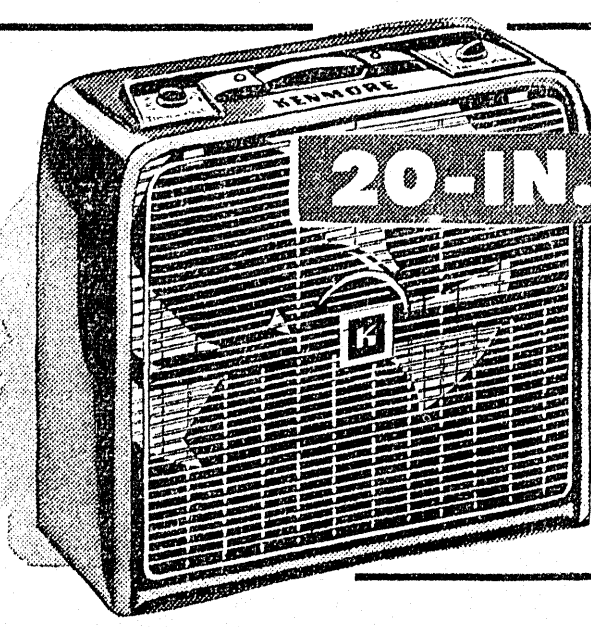

Among the best in recent releases are Montovani's "An Album of Favorite Tanges" (London), David Rose's "Night in Trinidad" (MGM), Dorati conducting the "Music of Johann Strauss" (Mercury) and Fred Waring and his "Pennsylvanians in Hi-Fi" (Capitol), the latter distinguished by a soaring, ceiling-shattering version of "Old Man River" that is bound to test the mood of the neighbors.

Math 'Language' Needs Polish, Educators Say

Group Gets Results With Unique Plan

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — What does this sentence mean? Mary has four letters.

It could mean that a girl has four pieces of mail, or that she has won four letters in athletics.

Does it mean that there are four letters in her name? No. For that meaning you'd have to write: "Mary" has four letters.

Now meet Prof. Max Beberman, a big man with close cropped brown hair and a passion for mathematics (and hamburgers).

And meet Prof. David Page, an earnest, greying young man who shares Beberman's unshakable confidence that high school kids can meet and master even some advanced forms of college math if you give them half a chance.

Beberman is director of the much-watched University of Illinois project for the improvement of school mathematics. Page is project editor.

What do Mary and her four letters have to do with mathematics?

Need for Communication The two men are convinced that one reason many kids find mathematics so formidable is this: As math is taught in most schools today, students don't know what the teacher is talking about — and the teacher may not either. One of the things they want to do is to "clean up the language of mathematics."

They use the case of Mary as a starting point to show what they mean.

"If you say 'Mary has four letters,'" says Beberman, "meaning that the word has four letters, you're confusing the girl Mary with her name."

"The distinction is fairly easy to see in everyday language, but in mathematics it's not always so easy."

He reaches for a big pad of paper. On it he writes 3 and 2 like this:

"Which is larger," he asks, "two or three?"

"Three," you reply. Beberman grins.

"You're too grown up," he says. "But you'd be surprised how often in the classroom a child will say 'two'."

"He's confusing the numbers two and three with the numerals 2 and 3. Numerals are not numbers; they're names of numbers."

Simple enough so far, but what does it lead to?

STARTING EARLY: A pair of seventh graders follows closely as Prof. Max Beberman writes out an equation, contrasting the simple box device he employs for variables (top) with the standard letter form. He believes many students are frightened into a dislike for math because of confusing and often misunderstood symbols.

A bell rings and you soon find out.

You leave the converted bungalow that houses the mathematics project office and stroll next door to University High School, where Beberman is trying out the project method on a class of seventh graders.

On the blackboard, Beberman draws:

$$5 + \square = 6$$

"What would I have to write in this box to make this statement true?" he asks.

"One," comes the prompt reply.

Now Beberman eases into the point.

"It's a lot of trouble to draw a box," he says. "Most mathematicians use some handier symbol like — oh, like X."

He writes the expression using an X instead of the box.

"But suppose I had written '4 plus X equals 6.' What numeral would X hold a place for to make a true statement?"

They get it instantly, and the "X-fright" so many children bring with them to algebra is forgotten.

Beberman is resolutely opposed to watered-down mathematics and to "apple-tree algebra" (which says 6A is like 6 apples).

"Mathematics can be interesting without being watered down," he says. "In fact, watered-down mathematics cannot be interesting. It is a time waster for both the talented student and the less able student."

Three or four minutes of class time remained after Beberman had finished his explanation of variables (a term incidentally, he studiously avoided).

In my day we would have sat there and fidgeted, eager to shake off the irksome strait-jacket that mathematics was 30 years ago.

Asking for More But these kids are in no hurry. To them math is, as Beberman says it should be, "a delightful experience."

A little girl's hand shoots into the air and she asks to play "I'm thinking of a number."

Again, in my day, if we played it at all, "I'm thinking of a number" would have been a fairly boring procedure — something like "2 plus 10, times 4, divided by 6, what is it?"

Not here. Beberman reels off, for these seventh graders: "Negative 6, times negative 4, plus the square of 1.2, plus the absolute of negative 40, divided by negative 5 . . ."

Hands in the air again. Most of their owners have the answer.

"Let's do it again, Mr. Beberman! Let's do it again."

But the bell rings. Reluctantly, if you can believe it, the children fold up their notebooks and troop out.

We return to the bungalow office for lunch (hamburgers) with Page and Miss Gertrude Hendrix, teacher coordinator for the project.

Lunch over, Beberman asks:

"By the way, how are you in mathematics?"

"I fell off the sled," I tell him, truthfully, "when I hit long division in the fourth grade."

"Well," says Beberman, "let's see."

He pulls his big pad toward him again, tries me on a few warm-up problems, then announces:

"Within 10 minutes I can have you doing a problem that many students of sophomore calculus have trouble with."

I sweat during the next 10 minutes but in the end Beberman writes something that I couldn't even have read before lunch.

$$3 < |y+1| < 8$$

It translates: "Three is less than the absolute of Y plus one which is less than eight."

"And what values of Y," Beberman asks, "make this true?"

Without much trouble, although it's too involved to go into here, I am able to tell him that the statement becomes true when Y is replaced by a numeral for any number between (but not including) two and seven or between minus four and minus nine.

Why have I understood it? Because Beberman has explained everything in simple terms and made sure I understood what job the letter Y performed. Chances are you could have done as well — or better if you're any good at arithmetic.

Does this kind of math instruction pay off?

Educational foundations are pretty hard headed, and one of them, the Carnegie Corp., after watching the Illinois project since 1951, decided last year that it does.

It put $277,000 into the project because it believes the method "will produce more students interested in mathematics, and better mathematicians among those who go to college."

Four other schools in Illinois are using it, and one in Missouri. Two Massachusetts schools and two more in Illinois are to join them this fall.

Beberman says some California schools want to come in, and that the Portland, Ore., system has expressed interest. Thirty-five teachers from various school systems signed up for a conference here this summer. The training, or retraining, of teachers is a vital part of the Illinois project.

What do students think?

"The most fun I ever had in school," said a boy at Principia Upper School, a private institution in St. Louis — "and I've learned more this year than in the last eight years of mathematics."

PLAIN TALK

Reversing U. S. Trend, Teen-Age Crime Dropping In Grand Rapids

By JAMES SMALLEGAN

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — An upward trend in juvenile crime continues in the United States. But in this Michigan furniture city of 200,000 it is the other way around — down, down, down.

Since 1949 the number of Grand Rapids youngsters under 17 involved in crimes has dipped almost 25 per cent, despite a population increase of 11 per cent.

The FBI Uniform Crime Report shows that during the same period the national rate of juvenile delinquency has jumped to more than seven times what it was in 1949.

Grand Rapids had nearly 2,000 juveniles involved in law violations in 1949. Last year there were less than 1,500, and police say the trend is toward an even lower figure this year. Nationally, the FBI reports 36,000 juveniles were arrested in 1949, compared with almost 234,500 last year.

Wide Attack Lt. Stanley Skuzinski, who runs the Grand Rapids Police Department's juvenile division, credits several things for the city's declining delinquency rate.

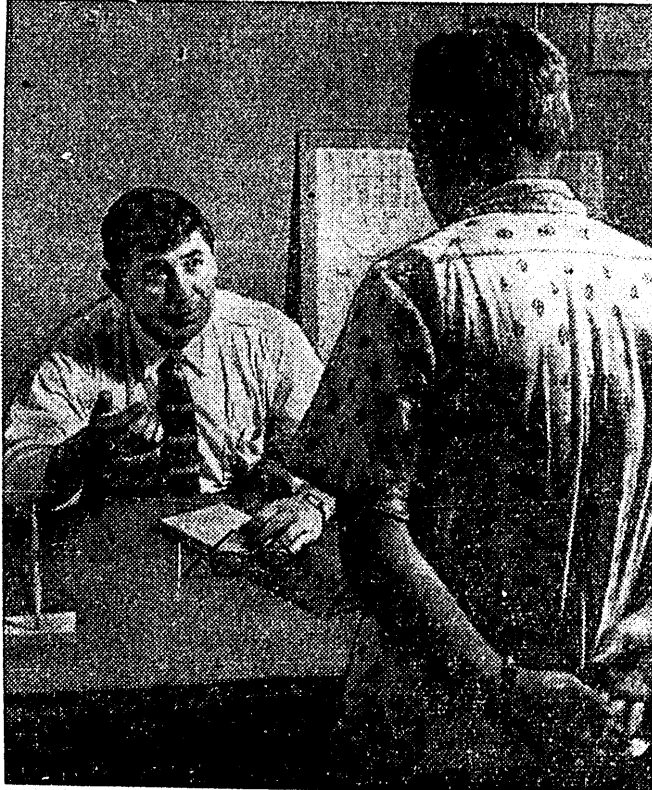

For one thing, he says: "We work with clubs of boys aged 17 through 21 who help us keep gangs of youngsters from forming. They're closer to the younger teen — ages that we are — and the youngsters respect their confidence. We don't have an organized gang of youngsters in the city."

"We find trouble, when it develops, most generally starts from a group congregated on a street corner. The first thing you know someone dares someone to do something and he's either 'chicken' or in trouble."

"Whenever we see groups hanging around we don't just run them off, we kind of 'talk' them home."

For another thing, he credits Grand Rapids' stability.

"We have our poor neighborhoods, like any city, but we don't have a skid row. Sixty-three and a half per cent of Grand Rapids residents own or are buying their homes."

PLAIN TALK—Lt. Stanley Skuzinski, head of the juvenile division of the Grand Rapids, Mich., Police Department, lays it on the line for a boy in trouble.

Another thing the police lieutenant points out is the total of more than 200 churches here, many of them of the strict Dutch faith that settlers brought with them 107 years ago.

This year 1,200 Grand Rapids children are going to camp through a $30,138 fund raised through a one-day drive.

Kids Kept Busy Skuzinski and his 13-member staff also busy themselves helping with a bustling municipal program of recreational events, ranging from swimming to square dancing, all year long.

Exactly what relation, if any, there is between juvenile and adult crime rates, Skuzinski isn't sure. But he and other policemen are proud of the Grand Rapids' low adult rate, too.

"I believe crime prevention starts with the youngsters," Skuzinski said, "and we're working to prove it. You can't just chase youngsters away and expect them to keep out of trouble. You've got to work with them; give them something to do."

END OF FRONTIER

OKLAHOMA RECALLS LAND RUSH

By LARRY OSIUS

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — At the stroke of noon on Sept. 16, 1893, a blue-shirted soldier dramatically raised his arm and fired a revolver into the air.

The shot, which set off the greatest land run in history, was seen but never heard. Light being faster than sound, the horde of 50,000 settlers surged across the line into Indian territory known as the Cherokee strip as soon as the flame burst from the barrel.

Wagons swaying, hoofs pounding, dust rising as if from a huge buffalo stampede, the mad race for homestead land was as frantic as it was epochal.

A unique method of hurry-up colonization, it signaled the end of the great American frontier and marked the early beginnings of the state of Oklahoma, which this year celebrates the 50th anniversary of its admission to the Union.

Waited Weeks For roughly 150 miles east and west along the edge of Kansas and the northern edge of the Oklahoma territory, the "boomers" (those who boomed or campaigned for opening Indian lands for settlement) had waited weeks for that pistol shot.

Some hadn't waited at all and earned the once-hated name of "Sooners" by sneaking into the territory "sooner" than the government allowed. Time has mellowed the memory of their impatience and Oklahoma now calls itself the "Sooner State," the adjective standing for ambition and enterprise rather than greed and deceit.

The waiting period was marked by violence, gun fights, bloody brawls as families squabbled with each other and the government troops who tried to maintain the line and clean out the "sooners" before the official opening date for settlement.

In the tent camps along the border, men begged for food at fantastic prices. Muddy water sold for 10 cents a bucket. Lemonade — a barrel of water with 12 lemon skins floating in it — staked one man for the run. Hot beer was a luxury. Dust and dirt were everywhere. Women were few, but hardy.

Within 24 hours after the starting gun, nearly a million acres had been claimed, divided into the allotted 160-acre homesteads. One family dropped out at the height of the race so a woman in the wagon could give birth to a child.

Indians Displaced The land had once been given to the Five Civilized Tribes — the Cherokees, Creeks, Seminoles, Chickasaws and Choctaws — by the government for "as long as grass shall grow and rivers run" in exchange for moving out of lands further east. But the Indians found themselves on short grass for supporting the Confederacy during the Civil War and were obliged, after some bickering, to move on still farther in exchange for a money settlement.

Two Choctaw words, Okla, meaning people, and Homa, meaning red, gave the territory and later the state its name. Oklahoma land of the red people.

The influence of Indian life has been strong on the state, which today with some 100,000 Indians has more than any other state and one-third of the country's Indian population.

YOUTH GANGS

Teenage Gangsterism And Wars Are On Upsurge Throughout The World

By JAMES DEVLIN

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (AP) — A policeman's son, caught in the middle of a youth gang war outside a tavern, is beaten and kicked to death.

Three youths flirting with two girls think that two other boys are laughing at them. They stab one to death and the other flees.

A crippled boy, unable to run from a gang of youth hoodlums, is stabbed fatally. Said one of the attackers, a 14-year-old boy: "I wanted to get the feeling of a knife going through bone."

These eruptions of teenage terror all occurred within one recent week in New York City. The sudden, unexpected outbreak focused new attention on the youth crime problem in New York as other juvenile crimes broke surface of the globe.

An Associated Press survey of youth gangsterism in the United States and abroad shows a general increase in juvenile delinquency and in many places an upswing in serious violence. Some cities, like Boston, Detroit, Paris and Rome, seem to be holding their own or improving.

Here are some of the reports: Los Angeles—Arrests up 22 per cent over last year.

Chicago—About the same number of arrests but the nature of the crimes is becoming more serious.

New York—A steady increase in arrests by increased police patrols.

Philadelphia—A 12 per cent increase in arrests.

Detroit — With youth gangs broken, arrest are on the downgrade.

These reports came from overseas: Tokyo — A steady increase for the past three years in juvenile crime.

London — A sudden upswing in juvenile barbarism.

West Berlin — About the same as last year.

France—Gangs, on the American order, are virtually nonexistent and juvenile crime is not a problem.

Rome — The first danger signs have appeared in the past six months and juvenile court authorities are watching. However, organized youth gang crime as such has not reached Italy yet.

The three New York slayings raised to 22 the number of homicides attributed to youngsters under 21 in the city since the year began. There were 29 such cases in all of 1956.

To meet the danger, the city threw in 536 rookie patrolmen from its police academy to patrol danger areas on foot from 6 p.m. to midnight. Incidents declined immediately.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner called for an educational campaign aimed at parents "who let their children run wild." Wagner said that a hard core of 3 per cent of the city's youth was the heart of the problem.

What leads this minority into gang action and crime?

Milton Willner, director of clinical services of New York's Berkshire Industrial Farms, said boys who join gangs feel unwanted by their parents or foster parents. He described them as "those who have never been able to establish positive ties to an adult."

Writing in "Child Welfare," a monthly magazine of the Child Welfare League of America, Willner said:

"The gang does offer some secondary satisfaction of dubious value. Boys who feel unwanted can get companionship, personal grievances can be aired and accepted at face value . . ."

"Boys find temporary escape from the realities of an outer world . . . into a world of their own making where infantile fancies and desires are tolerated."

In Los Angeles, Capt. James Glavas, head of the Police Juvenile Division, said:

"There are organized gangs here in the sense that they identify themselves with groups, frequently wear distinctive clothing such as motorcycle boots and black leather jackets. There should be no assumption, however, that these groups are banded together for the specific purpose of committing crimes. They do frequently become involved in criminal acts because whenever youngsters get together without proper supervision the threshold for misconduct is lowered."

operating in crime. In fact, the Juvenile Division reported there was a 14 per cent decrease in teen-age crime in the first six months of this year compared with a corresponding period last year.

The division said that a tough gang known as the "Shakers" was broken up several years ago and that police have kept on top of the situation since then. A preventive drive is in the works to keep the police load within limits. As in many other cities, Detroit has youth courts where corrective measures are dealt out to youthful violators through a large array of civic, fraternal and state organizations.

Police in Philadelphia believe they are holding their own, noting that juvenile crime has increased very slightly while the city's population has grown hardly.

Philadelphia police list 20 juvenile gangs of such names as the Morrocanos, the Bottoms and Barbarians.

In both Philadelphia and Detroit, young hoodlums have stopped wearing uniform clothing, believing that this attire attracts police attention.

ABOUT JAPANESE WOMEN

Japanese Men Suffered Two Defeats In World War II; Second Loss Was Worst

By DON BALDWIN

TOKYO, Aug. 24 (AP) — Japanese men suffered two great defeats in World War II. In time they may forget they were beaten in combat, but they will never recover from their second loss.

"They lost face with their own women," says one of Japan's leading feminists. "Our country's defeat in World War II proved to be a great victory for Japanese women."

In the last 13 years the men of Japan have been forced to concede to women far-reaching rights and freedoms which promise eventually to reshape the country.

Some were written arbitrarily into Japan's new constitution and its legal code by U.S. occupation authorities. Some have been forced through a reluctant Diet (Parliament) by militant feminine legislators and voters. Others, more intangible but possibly more important, involve relationships within families and between the sexes.

Centuries For centuries a woman in Japan was legally an incompetent person. She could not vote, inherit property, obtain a divorce or have a voice in the rearing of her children. She had no social life and no interests outside the home and lived only to serve and to please her husband.

Now she has every legal right held by men. Special laws protect the health and welfare of working women and widows. Boys and girls have an equal right to higher education. Prostitution, legal for centuries, has been banned.

Some segments of the old way of life are dying slowly, particularly in the country. But it is dying indisputably. It's apparent even in the increasing number of Western dresses being worn. The old style kimono seems on its way out as everyday apparel.

Better Off "The women of Japan are far better off today than before the war and the next generation should make even greater strides forward," said Miss Sugi Shirashi, women's editor of the English-language Japan Times and a prominent lecturer and writer.

"Today's teenage girls don't even remember what it used to be like. They take these great new freedoms as their right, which they are."

"I think the greatest change in Japan, however, has been in family relationship."

Unbreakable marriage contracts no longer can be negotiated by heads of families although many marriages still are arranged; wives and minor children have legal rights recognized by courts; men no longer are undisputed monarchs in their homes.

Young Wives Younger wives — for the most part those under 35 — now go frequently with their husbands to private parties and to the neighborhood movie just as Americans do. Older women rarely go out with their husbands in the evening, but they do have a far less restricted social life built around women's clubs and matinees.

Many younger urban couples also have adopted the Western kiss — strictly taboo in prewar Japan.

Japan's double moral standard for men and women still exists. And wealthy men still visit geisha houses and restaurants which provide hostesses for jaded customers.

But the younger middle class husband has no yen to spend two month's salary on a night's entertainment.

"Anyway," his wife wouldn't stand for it," a young housewife explained with a smile.

For the younger generation the most dramatic change perhaps has been in the relationship between boys and girls before marriage.

While Japanese boys and girls of middle class families generally do not "date" in the American sense, there now are ample opportunities for the two friends in colleges, clubs, sports organizations and at private parties.

Many young couples fall in love and marry, just as they would in a Western country. In many cases — and perhaps a majority — however, families arrange informal introduction of young people with the hope that they will marry.

And even in cases where fathers arrange a marriage, both boy and girl have ample opportunity to back out without disgracing themselves or their families.

Now Work Perhaps 90 per cent of all girls graduating from urban high

The highway, from Ackerman to Pontotoc, is named for the three-time lieutenant governor who became governor twice when governors died.

Two markers will be dedicated to mark the sites which served as Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston's and Gen. U.S. Grant's headquarters during the Civil War near Corinth.

WHY GROW OLD

Let's Look At The Weather—It Affects Health, Happiness

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN — Since we talk so much about the weather and since the climate we live in does have a direct effect on us, let's learn something about it.

Some like their climate hot and some like it cold. More important than that some people are not designed for very hot or very cold weather. Their physiological make-ups cause them to suffer with either extreme. This is a fact.

Temperature changes actually are reflected in your blood pressure and the rate of your metabolism. It has been observed that production drops in very hot weather. Heat also makes most people irritable. General violence as well as domestic quarrels are more prevalent in hot weather. It is interesting to note that people, like animals, are more restless and unreasonable just before a storm. Some folks actually feel ill in hot weather while others freeze up at the beginning of winter and do not thaw out until late spring.

So, you see the weather does affect our health and our personalities, and therefore our happiness.

50 Per Cent Humidity Best — Surveys have indicated that most people react best when the humidity is about 50 per cent. It also has been found that the best temperature for pep and health is about 68 degrees. Most folks keep their houses far too hot and some stores and public buildings are almost unbearable. No wonder there are so many colds!

Watch out for sudden changes in the weather from here on. We are all sensitive to these. Remember, too, that the thin person is even more susceptible to these sudden switches than the one who has more padding. The latter has more natural insulation. These quick changes cause many colds.

Pamper Self — It is a real health measure to pamper yourself in the matter of climate whenever you can. If at all possible, live in the climate which makes you feel best. If you live in a hot climate and it makes you feel exhausted, you never could spend money more profitably than on air-conditioning. It would be an investment in health and happiness and family life.

If you suffer from heat, cut your activities to fit the problem. Do your shopping or errands early in the morning and eat your supper later at night and a cool spot. Do not accept social engagements in the hot weather. Take it easy!

Strike Settlement Report Scored By Union Official

An official of the sheet metal workers' Local 503 has challenged the accuracy of a report published this week on a strike settlement in the Twin Cities.

Fred Takewell, president of the local, stated today no contract had been signed at that time and that terms reportedly reached were erroneous.

However, Takewell noted a contract had since been mutually agreed upon by contractors and sheet metal workers. He stated the same agreement as accepted by Shreveport Local No. 361 had been agreed upon here and that the same policy was to be followed regularly after the agreement expires with a 90-day buffer period at the end of each agreement for wage adjustment.

The following amendments to the present contract have been ratified by workers and shop owners, Takewell stated:

"Wages of journeymen sheet metal workers shall be, beginning August 12, 1957, $2.68 per hour; Nov. 1, 1957, $2.76 per hour; March 1, 1958, $2.80 per hour."

for the first time are urged to attend, Andrews said.

DIG FOR SISTERS—Volunteer workers dig in an abandoned quarry to retrieve the bodies of the Gurnsey sisters after their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gurnsey, identified a shoe belonging to one of the girls that was found in the quarry. The girls, Nancy, 10, Ruthie, 9, and Theresa, 8, were found under the rain-drenched dirt and officials said they apparently had been trapped by an earth slide while at play. The sisters had been hunted since Wednesday, when they left their home a half-mile away. (AP Wirephoto)

3 Sisters Die Under Earth Pile

DIXON, Ill., Aug. 24 (UP)—The bodies of three small sisters were found today on a quarry bottom, apparently killed by a load of earth dumped on them by one of their father's workmen.

Nancy, 10, Theresa, 8, and Ruthie, 9, daughters of John and Ruth Gurnsey, were found in a circle under a mound of fill-in clay that had been poured into the quarry by an earth-moving firm for which their father is a foreman.

The girls, missing since Wednesday afternoon, were spotted under the glare of floodlights in the pre-dawn after workers shoveled against a sea of mud for almost six hours.

A pathologist's report said they had died of suffocation. In addition it showed that Ruthie suffered a skull fracture and Theresa a broken neck.

The Gurnseys have five other children ranging in age from 11 years to 6 months.

State's attorney John Bales, who ordered the search of the abandoned quarry, said that foul play "was out of the question."

Approve Plans For Testing Asphalt 'Strips'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP)—House investigators today formally approved Air Force plans for testing asphalt-paved airstrips to see if they can be substituted for more expensive concrete.

In an interim report on its study of paving materials, the House armed services investigations subcommittee indicated approval of the project worked out by the Air Force and Army engineers. The main test is to be made at the Columbus, Miss., airbase on a strip designed for the huge new B52 bomber.

The report said the subcommittee has made no final judgment, but it repeated advice that the Air Force should not "embark upon an extensive Portland cement building program, which would involve a substantial expenditure of money" until all the information is in.

He said the girls probably walked the half-mile from their home to the 50-foot deep quarry Wednesday afternoon and decided to climb down near a hollow or cave on the bottom.

Bales said a workman in a bulldozer apparently pushed a load of fill near that point, either striking the girls directly or causing a slide of earth that buried them.

HUSBAND USED LICENSE

Woman Found Guilty In Medicine Practice Affair

AUSTIN, Aug. 24 (UP)—The State Board of Medical Examiners today found a woman doctor guilty of allowing her husband to use her license to practice medicine and suspended her license.

The physician, Dr. Harriet Nystrom, practiced at Canutillo, in El Paso county. The suspension becomes effective Sept. 1.

Dr. Nystrom admitted that she allowed her husband to treat some patients and write prescriptions but denied that they ever tried to "fool anyone."

The board set hearings for Monday on two other doctors — Dr. John Franklin Furby, a Silverton osteopath, and Dr. James Elmer Reed of Madisonville.

Furby is accused of a narcotic license violation, while Reed is charged with making a false insurance claim.

Dr. Nystrom said she met and married her husband while both were missionary doctors in Ethiopia.

Her husband, she said, was a graduate of the Stuttgart University Medical School in Germany, but had never obtained a license in this country because he had no official proof that he was a graduate or that he had been licensed in Ethiopia.

She said the school's records had been destroyed during World War II and that her husband's records were destroyed in the Italo-Ethiopian war.

"The patients knew my husband was not a doctor and many of the El Paso doctors knew what he was doing, but we never tried to fool anyone. Everything my husband did is on our records, and I always supervised," she said.

She denied any knowledge of a telephone book listing which showed both her and her husband as doctors.

WHY DO YOU READ THE NEWSPAPER? Copyright 1957, Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, Inc.

"I sit down with the paper every day to read it and look for ads on things I need..."

Morning, noon or night, any day of the week, in the house or out, the newspaper remains to be read — and shopped — at the reader's convenience.

This is one of the great pluses for an advertiser — as so many advertisers well know. An ad is read by newspaper readers when the readers feel like it. There is no intrusion upon the readers' time; thus no resentment by customers.

The convenience appeal of the daily newspaper is one reason why people pay over $3,000,000 a day for the privilege of reading and shopping from more than 57,000,000 newspapers daily.

Whatever you sell, wherever you sell it — nationally, regionally or locally — you'll get more help selling it through the daily newspaper . . . where people find time to listen to your story.

AN OPEN LETTER—

To the Automobile Buyers of Northeast Louisiana
In our old quarters at 310 Walnut, we were so crowded for space, it was impossible to operate the type of Used Car Department we desired.

Since our move to our spacious new location and due to the tremendous volume sales of new Oldsmobiles and Cadillacs, we have the most complete selection of thoroughly reconditioned "Safety Tested" used cars available in the entire South.

We're not trying to kid anyone. A used car is a used car, no matter where you buy it. The BIG DIFFERENCE is HONEST RECONDITIONING and the GUARANTEE from the selling dealer. These two considerations plus COMPETITIVE PRICES is our pledge to you!

Sincerely,

VAN-TROW OLDS-CADILLAC, INC.
